IN MEMORIAM

John Holmes, poet, critic, teacher, born January 6, 1904 in Somerville, Massachusetts, received his undergraduate education at Tufts University. After a year of graduate work at Harvard University, he became an instructor in English at Lafayette College and two years later came to Tufts where he was to spend his life as a teacher and friend of both students and faculty.

John Holmes, poet, in his eleven volumes, expressed a poetic voice distinctly his own. The powerful self-expression of a New England poet concerned with human relationships, tuned to the rise and fall of his speaking voice, contains an unpretentious simplicity and a profound, sensitive awareness of both the rare and the everyday. For his abilities he received the Golden Rose of the New England Poetry Club in 1938, the William Rose Benét Memorial Prize in 1958, and became a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in 1962. He was Phi Beta Kappa poet five times at four universities and was conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature by Tufts in 1962.

John Holmes, critic, contributed to such literary magazines as The Atlantic Monthly, The New Yorker, The Saturday Review, The Yale Review, and Harper's. Through his writings he gained both praise and close friendships with many contemporary poets, such as MacLeish, McCord, Frost, and Ciardi, a former student of Doctor Holmes.

John Holmes, teacher, through an effortless, gentle manner, communicated by osmosis. He taught, not in the formal tradition of lectures, exams, and papers, but with a deep sense of feeling for his subject. Never ostentatious, always sympathetic, thoughtful, profound, he was more a friend telling of his experiences in a world too often callous, too often unfriendly. A quality of quiet intensity gave to his students a sense of support, never obvious, but still, very real. A conversationalist who stimulated others to express, to think, he begot loyalty from many because he gave it to so many. And to Tufts, his gratitude, his love—we can give to his memory only a meager return—to you, John Holmes, poet, critic, teacher:

*"How you must love this place!" My heart stood still
And ached to think how much I love this Hill.*

DEDICATION

To Paul Alanson Warren, Professor of Botany, the Class of 1963 is proud to dedicate this, its yearbook. This man, "graduating" with us from Tufts University, will be remembered forever for his discovery of the seedless cucumber and his famed tomato plants, but more for the respect and admiration he engendered in both his students and the faculty.

Having received a B.S. in Biology at the University of Maine and his Ph.D. at the University of Michigan, Doctor Warren came to Tufts in 1931, serving as Chairman of the Biology Department from 1940 until 1959. But his success and abilities were not limited to the Tufts campus. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Chi Beta Phi, The Genetics Society of America, and the Phi Sigma Biological Society, of which he was president from 1933 until 1948. At Tufts, he served on the Curriculum Committee of the Colleges of Liberal Arts and Jackson and the Executive Committee of Graduate Schools.

Doctor Warren is famous (or infamous) for his sense of humor which, although leaning toward the risqué, becomes an art in the hands of the brilliant teacher. His wit is both a source of embarrassment and laughter to his students. His personality is both warm and stimulating to advanced pre-meds and Bio majors. One might describe him as a friendly classicist, an informal academician, a "real nice guy." We could not ask for a more distinguished fellow "graduate." We are proud and honored.

The day of achievement—long hoped for, long contemplated. Mothers to comfort, lines to stand in, people to meet. Impressing some and impressed by more. Orientation, matriculation, registration, consternation.

"To the victor go the spoils." Indian summer, the good days. New England autumn, the happy days—days of football, fraternity, and fun. The boys get to know the girls, and the girls get to know as many as possible.

Saturday and football. At the Oval or far away, in the sun or in the rain, standing 'til their feet are numb, sitting 'til they're very numb, the team, the cheerleaders, the crowds shout a cheer victorious or muffle a word disastrous.

Potential talents, long suppressed, are fostered upon a college campus. Maturity comes with the months of experience and learning. For many, this is a time to earn as they learn.

In those rare moments of solitude and tranquility, one tries to understand the purpose of his education. Some never understand. Many more achieve satisfaction.

The unusual becomes commonplace. No desire is without its fulfillment. Interest, curiosity, enmity, apathy—all can be found in some dark corner of the campus.

Days and knowledge. For the studious, a luxury. For the underachievers, a necessity. Hours and English, History, Music, Math. Success and failure.

Freedom anticipated for 50 minutes loses itself in talk of the exam just taken, the girl just asked, the work not prepared. One cannot accomplish much in ten minutes. One learns to—between classes.

A few stolen minutes. Time enough to make a date, discuss world affairs, or fall in love. The bridge players, the second cup of coffee, the exchange of information over a coke. Many would never succeed without a few stolen minutes.

Inspiration or boredom, the teacher is master of both. The distance between himself and his students decreases in proportion to his abilities. A responsibility to himself becomes the enthusiasm of his class.

*Interest or boredom. Bewilderment or understanding.
Either-or: all a part of education. College is of lecturing, of listening, of learning.*

So much absorbed in their personal environment, their worlds inward, very few students notice the frosted webbing upon hoary trees, the falling of white snow upon black wrought iron, or the sporting of ice crystals with the brightness of night.

Long winter nights lead to restlessness while anticipation thrives upon the cold silence. Relief is found on stages and in halls of colonial simplicity. Energy is expended in the laughter and applause of appreciation.

"Tis the season to be jolly." Studies increase but motivation declines. The spirit of Christmas is sublimated to the mass of exams and papers. But these, too, must pass. Breaks become longer. Parties become more frequent, attitudes become less inhibited . . . Fa la la la la . . .

Refinement and sophistication are achieved in part through the attainment of "culture." For a few words to throw over the head at cocktail parties or for a sincere aestheticism beyond bourgeois attitudes, art satisfies the need.

Sometimes, participation in campus activities reaches a saturation point. Tastes become cloyed with the repetition of parties, dances, shows. Escapes are sought in places which offer both a change in atmosphere and entertainment. Late nights and hangovers, glaring neon and empty pockets.

*Behind closed doors where the footfall of men never sound, the secret parleys of the female clan dominate hasty meals and spare moments.
What do little girls talk about? Studies, studs,

Perception and original thought become a part of many students' personality. Engendered within the classroom, fostered within the individual, and practiced within the workshops of free expression, creativity broadens and fulfills.

Upon a faintly lit stage reality sheds a spark of truth. Many passively accept it as a cliché. A few seek it as a goal. To those few existence becomes most bearable.

There are many ways to be sociable, and one of the most effective is the Junior Dinner Dance. The unity of the class is important, and never is the class as a unit so high. Diverse personalities united in a common purpose. Spirit rises as spirits ebb. Unity forever!

Business, beat, and bull. Life through a key-hole, or action and reaction. Existence encompasses many attitudes.

Expression is maleable. Achievement is acknowledged by friendship and appreciation, but all subordinated to the mature realization of self-fulfillment. For most, this realization has arrived.

*Spring, and expectations improve.
Nature reveals herself in her plants and animals. Hopes for future success increase.*

A tall arbor, a clear sky, and Mr. Sun brings Tufts to the outdoors. Ivy clings to window sills and dark brick, heralding Spring and new life . . . Retirement to a shady Quercus robur and serenity of beauty, and a good book.

Ivy Weekend—"Sew the wind and reap the whirlwind"—a last frolic before exams. Interest varies from impromptu baths to a concert and a formal dance. Sheepskin nears the final stage of curing.

*The star draws near and glows a reddish glow.
Our country calls some, responsibility calls others. A long farewell, a lighted cigarette, the open sky, and a cluster of trees. Tender the caress and our years at Tufts.*

Fulfillment and achievement lead to contemplative return and searching. Applaud the sounds sifting through the air . . . remembrance of a life in a crowded galley . . . a final tribute to four years.

*A gaze in white, a tolling bell, and we have finished. The curtain falls . . . the last act has played . . . the music stops.
And we pass among the scholars, and learn.*

AIR SCIENCE

Tufts' airborne answer to Communist threats is an adequate cross-section of one of our nation's major bulwarks of defense, the United States Air Force. The mission of the A.F.R.O.T.C. is to breed fully qualified officers who will be capable of accepting assignments ranging from Astronaut to Naval-Liaison Officer. Newly arrived this year, Lieutenant Colonel Bull serves as the department chairman, instilling new vigor and strength into the corps. He is ably aided by Major Rogers and Major Marioles who, when not disputing the supremacy of the pilot or the navigator, can usually be found preparing exciting presentations of Air Force lore for their respective courses.

NAVY

Sailing across the Cousens parking lot, Tufts Naval R.O.T.C. makes its mark in the lives of Tufts-men every Tuesday afternoon. In the intramural gymnasium, trumpets ring and drums beat to the tune of the Star Spangled Banner some 28 times. In Sweet Hall, classes in naval theory and practice are held, demonstrations proceed, and battles are fought—all to turn out our naval leaders of tomorrow. With Lt. Zachman gone, femkins this year are presented to Lts. Hicks and Bendit. Captain Zoeller is the new department director, succeeding Captain Schaible as chairman.

Seated: Dr. Payne, Prof. Warren, Mrs. Van Ummersen, Prof. Roeder, Chairman. Standing: Prof. Sweet, Dr. Roys, Assoc. Prof. Sames, Prof. Carpenter.

BIOLOGY

Barnum Museum is an old, ivy-covered building that houses our famous mascot, Jumbo, together with the Tufts University Biology Department. From the halls of the formalin fog to the shores of the vivarium, Barnum abounds with everything from Rhizopus nigricans to Necturus maculosus. It is in this venerable edifice that one may seek to find instruction in courses ranging from microbiology to embryology, from plant cytology to animal physiology. With world renowned neurophysiologist Dr. Kenneth Roeder as chairman, the department forges onward. Faculty members carry on experiments in their own chosen field of endeavor, and who knows whether or not Dr. Curry will be the first to grow a bean on the moon. Dr. G. (for "guts") Sames was voted to the All-American football team this year, and he'd best be wary, for Dr. Carpenter's got an eye on him. We depart with one final regret, and that at the leaving of Dr. Paul Warren, Tufts' many-year-long answer to genetics, botany, and plant cytology. Good luck and farewell. Here's to biology, the science of life.

Dr. Carpenter

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

At Tufts University, the world of the chemical engineer is a small one—delightfully dubious, but not at all nebulous. Graduating on the average of from three to six Chem E's each year, Tufts proudly presents her answer to Professor Van Wormer's queries of thermodynamically ideal situations. Dr. Sussman, Tufts' personal ambassador to Turkey and new head of the department, is ably abetted by Professor Atallah, outstanding celebrity in the laboratory world. Unit Ops, anyone?

Prof. Sussman

Prof. Van Wormer inspecting the solar oven.

Prof. Van Wormer, Prof. Case, Prof. Sussman, Chairman; Prof. Atallah.

CHEMISTRY

Seated: Prof. Gibbs, Prof. Wilson, Chairman; Assoc. Prof. Messer, Prof. Doleman, Prof. Littlefield. Standing: Asst. Prof. Stalow, Asst. Prof. Georgian, Prof. Greenwood, Asst. Prof. Handler, Prof. Eddy, Asst. Prof. Epstein.

"My, it seems we all have colds today" is a phrase very likely to be heard if you feel like getting up 8:00 A.M. on a Saturday, cold, snowy, December morning to sit in germ-laden Pearson 304 and listen to a lecture on the synthesis of secondary alcohols. To many of us, this is our chemistry; but to others, it is only the first step.

As department head, Dr. Wilson is still trying to account for the electron that got away, but of this principle, he is quite uncertain. Dr. Doleman is out buying everyone handkerchiefs. Dr. Messer, we understand, has a new wardrobe of ties, and sun glasses will be distributed as you enter the lecture hall. We eagerly await the time when Dr. Littlefield will have to do his analysis the fourth time, but we fear we wait in vain. After completing a course in this department, one leaves with a strange feeling of having consumed, digested, and learned a great deal of chemistry, more or less—or perhaps a little less than more.

Dr. Doleman

CIVIL ENGINEERING

Our answer to the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey is the Tufts Civil Engineering Department. Churning out civil engineers by the dozen each year, the department speeds towards its ideal of mass production and the eventual overthrow of the engineering world. Professor Carbone insures us of engineers who can resolve any type problem in twenty-five seconds or less, with or without isolation booths. Professor Haynes will make certain that everyone installs a private filtration apparatus in their own backyard and carries a "Do-It-Yourself" de-pollution kit for immediate use. Dr. Littleton, the anchor-man and admiral of the department, is solely in charge of regulating the flow of the Hamilton Pool. How can we lose?

Dr. Shan Kud, Prof. Littleton, Chairman; Assoc. Prof. Savage, Assoc. Prof. Dunkerley, Asst. Prof. Hanes.

Drs. Hanes and Littleton.

CLASSICS

Standing: Mr. Dutra, Mr. Harrison, Mr. Desmond, Mr. Weisberg. Seated: Prof. Corcoran, Prof. Johnson, Chairman; Mrs. Balmut, Prof. White.

To study the wisdom and philosophy of the ancients through their writings is to study classics at Tufts. We know not which particular part of our appetites for learning we satisfy when we consume Homer or Virgil, because for most of us, the digestion and assimilation of these ideas durates many years. To help us with our digestion, Prof. Wolverton and Dr. Jones act as a combination of professors to bring fast, fast, fast relief from pain of Juvenal, Tacitus, and Henry Miller!? So onward towards those illusive intangibles towards which mankind must constantly strive.

FINE ARTS

The Fine Arts department is one of the smaller departments at the university. Composed of two members, Professor Russel Smith, chairman of the department and head of the Museum School, and Professor Reynolds. The undermanned department endeavors to offer Tufts students a glimpse-in-depth of the Beaux Arts through its meager range of courses. Here at Tufts, art is fine, but Fine Arts is not, certainly.

Prof. Smith

DRAMA AND SPEECH

Front: Dr. Balch, Chairman; Miss Wallace, Mr. Mullen.
Rear: Mr. Roisman, Dr. Collins, Dr. Burnim.

The Department of Drama and Speech is one which is well-known and one whose courses are well-frequented at Tufts University. Famous for "Gut-5" and "Gut-7," the Speech section of the department endeavors to fashion William Jennings Bryans out of Porky Pigs. Although the Bryan level is hardly ever attained, the Nixon level is par for the course.

In the Drama section, Professor Marston Balch, chairman of the department, leads his able compagnons d'armes against the onslaught of Tufts students, Christopher Marlowe, et al. The classes are small, the instruction terse, and the assignments call students to the task. "To be, or not to have been, that is the question."

Seated: Assoc. Prof. Smith, Mrs. Sweet, Prof. Holtzman, Prof. Manly, Chairman; Mr. Kirsh, Asst. Prof. Cornwall. Standing: Asst. Prof. Bridgman, Assoc. Prof. Ernst, Dr. Ounjian.

ECONOMICS

Braker Hall is the scene of many a theoretical economic crisis, for within her walls is the seat of the Department of Economics. The corridors and classrooms from 01 to 25 are the arena sites wherein the students and Professors Ernst, Roseman, Cornwall et al, meet in friendly combat, a combat in which the discussion ranges from standard of living to income tax. Wouldn't it be interesting if the Internal Revenue rejected Professor Manley's tax form as improperly completed, or if Professor Roseman agreed with the fiscal policy of any administration.

Prof. Gustaff, Prof. Maskulenko, Prof. Seo, Prof. Howell, Chairman; Prof. Hammond, Prof Higginbotham, Dr. Wedlock.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

If you ever happen by Cousens Gymnasium late on a stormy, early fall night and glance above the building into the rain, you might perceive several kites with keys tied onto them whipping in the wind. No, you're not dreaming. This is our answer to Ben Franklin—the Tufts University Electrical Engineering Department. Occasionally, a bolt of lightning strikes, but Profs. Fermental, Pike, and Hammond stand ready and willing to replace the burned tubes and blown fuses.

Prof. Howell

Asst. Prof. Rule, Mr. Beaver, Prof. Hill, Chairman; Prof. Leighton, Prof. d'Amato.

ENGINEERING GRAPHICS

Engineering Graphics is a subject with which every engineer must reckon at least once, at Tufts. It teaches accuracy, patience, reason, and precision, qualities of which every engineer should at least, be aware. Long hours tell the story of design and drawing. The mainstay of the M.E., Professor Hill is the department chairman, aided by Professor Rule, who has just invented an IBM system which will give everyone "A's" automatically, and Professor d'Amato (coke and aspirin, anyone?), et al.

Prof. Hill

Prof. Rule

Seated: Mrs. Birk, Prof. Flint, Prof. Myrick, Prof. Barnet, Chairman; Prof. Birk, Mrs. Sullivan. Standing: Miss Murphy, Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Traci, Mr. Skwire, Mr.

Russell, Mr. Dube, Mr. Abbott, Dr. Coffin, Mr. Coolidge, Mr. Mattson, Asst. Prof. Ridlon, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Stubbs.

ENGLISH

Every entering student, save those would-be English majors endowed with superhuman qualities which exempt them from the course, must include the gut of the English Department, English I-II, in their curriculum. Starring Professors Birk and Birk, with a supporting cast of thousands, the great drama and spectacle is recreated every year, filling the heads of engineers, physicists, physicians, and mathematicians with John Stuart Mill, et al. Hamlet and King Lear are fair appetizers, and 1700 pages of Norton is a juicy entree, if you have a very sharp knife and long prongs on your fork. If not, which is the usual situation, a very serious case of indigestion arises, accompanied by extremely undesirable results. Future events: Mr. Traci will next try his luck on the Price is Right, and Mr. and Mrs. Birk will write another book . . . We are deeply grieved at the passing of Professor John Holmes, but are content to know that, through his poetic works, he will always be with us, here at Tufts.

Dr. Barnet

Seated: Dr. Prinz, Assoc. Prof. Hume. Standing: Prof. Nichols, Chairman; Prof. Stearns.

GEOLOGY

Housed in Barnum Museum, as is the Department of Biology, the Department of Geology strides on, climbing mountains and tramping through cemeteries. Dr. Nichols, world-renowned adventuring geologist, heads the department, ably supported by Professor Hume, Dr. Prinz, and Professor Stearns. "If this is a gneiss, I'll be a schist," says one student to Professor Hume, who is busy erecting an oil derrick on the Barnum Lawn. Dr. Nichols is planning his next expedition, which we understand will be to the highest peaks in the Andean mountain range of Peru—to get sod for the Barnum lawn. When Dr. Prinz is not occupied in diverse letters, he instructs courses in minerology and petrology, the study of mineral oil and petroses.

EDUCATION

Standing: Mr. Strain, Assoc. Prof. Rudd, Mr. Trednick. Seated: Mrs. Wellington, Prof. Wellington, Prof. Marshall, Chairman.

And comes the practice teaching.

Unless one is interested in a career in the field of teaching, one is not usually aware that a Department of Education exists at Tufts. It serves to aid university students who wish to become teachers or educators of different sorts, whether in the elementary grades or in the secondary schools, instructing students in comparative educational systems throughout the world. In addition, it furnishes certain seniors with the opportunity to "practice teach" so as to obtain a more rounded background in the handling of students and to prepare them for their first positions. Professor Marshall is chairman of the department.

GERMAN

Standing: Mr. Widershien, Mr. Thompson, Mrs. Halm, Mr. Boehnert. Seated: Assoc. Prof. Newton, Prof. Provine, Chairman; Asst Prof. Wells.

Prof. Provine

The Cohen basement is the scene of many a tutonic tableau, for here resides the German Department. Tobeabletoput-downafewwordstogether is all that one needs to become an experienced Germaneer. Professor Provine is chairman of the department, supported by Professors Newton, Myrvaagnes, and Wells, the master of the mimeograph.

Seated: Assoc. Prof. Elliott, Mrs. Sweet, Prof. Robbins, Chairman; Dr. Patterson, Assoc. Prof. Burch. Standing: Asst. Prof. Zucker, Asst. Prof. Larson, Mr. Schick.

GOVERNMENT

Governments throughout the world, their types, scopes and philosophies are the meat of this department. Ranging from dictatorship to democracy, the courses are designed to present students with views, ideas, and opinions of various authors, and an insight into the base mechanisms of these ideologies. Professor Robbins, chairman of the department, is still fighting through the strategic smoke screen. Professor Andrews now owns 60 acres along Tobacco Road, and Mrs. Sweet and Mrs. Burch are still graciously supplying the howling stomachs of hungry students with cakery and confections.

HISTORY

Assoc. Prof. Abbott, Asst. Prof. Parkman, Prof. Imlah, Chairman; Assoc. Prof. Miller, Asst. Prof. Hoar, Mr. Marcopoulos.

Dr. Imlah

We study the history of the past to learn about the future. Here at Tufts, the history courses entail some of the more interesting subject matter, ranging from the beginning of time, to the atomic era. Courses delve into specifics in most any field, such as Latin America, United States, etc. Professor Imlah is the field-general, whose phenomenal memory for statistics, dates, maneuvers, etc., is extraordinary, enabling him to recall the slightest detail, such as the last red line on the orange hill by the blue colored field on the black-board six lectures ago. Professor Parkman is being investigated by the Army, and we now know that Professor Miller is Sitting Bull's great grandson.

Front: Asst. Prof. Katz, Prof. Clarkson, Chairman; Asst. Prof. Yaqub. Standing: Assoc. Prof. Holt, Asst. Prof. Harris, Mr. Schlesinger, Assoc. Prof. Reynolds, Prof. Fulton, Mr. Jonah.

MATHEMATICS

Lookout for your epsilons and deltas is the byword here—this is the cry of the math student from 1-2 to 198-199. The department of mathematics now resides permanently in Bromfield-Pearson, that venerable old edifice down around the corner behind that big building. Professor (there are now fifteen minutes left in the exam) Clarkson is still the department chairman, ably supported by a host of prime mathematicians.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

Seated: Assoc. Prof. Harrington, Prof. Trefethen, Chairman; Prof. Leavitt. Standing: Assoc. Prof. Vannah, Asst. Prof. Nelson, Assoc. Prof. Astill, Asst. Prof. Choi.

The M.E. department still reigns as the first choice of engineering majors. Popular professors such as Professors Trefethen (and his black boxes), Hairy Choi (and his heated masses, and Vannah (and his Head skis) attract students with their diversity and their interesting personalities—and courses.

Bray Lab is the scene of many an engineering triumph over the mundane with many of the new and interesting projects of the advanced majors students. Professor Harrington informs the university that Anderson Lawn will be the site of the new launching pad, while Professor Leavitt is arranging for the top floor of Bray to be reconverted to a Nike-Zeus design center.

MUSIC

Asst. Prof. King, Assoc. Prof. MacKillop, Chairman; Mr. Abbott.

Hail to Beethoven, Bach, and Bevenuto Cellini. Music is the food of love, so teach on and let us eat our fill. Being the triumvirate department and consisting of Mr. Abbott, Professor King, and Professor MacKillop, music has begun to stir new interest among many students, and sometimes engineers even frequent the courses. Housed in Cohen, complete with listening booths, recorders, and a myriad number of gadgets, the department lures students on registration day with a siren song and serene strangeness. So play on, and eat your fill, for 'tis a bountiful preserve.

Mr. Abbott

Mr. MacKillop

Prof. Burch, Chairman; Miss Wubnig.

PHILOSOPHY

According to Plato, the essence of man is the exercise of reason. The members of the philosophy department exercise vigorously to get the students to reason. It seems, however, this, the result of courses designed for soul-searching, is a realization that there is no soul in the world today. All of Professor Burch's horses and all of his men can't put rationalism together again; they, as representatives of many of the diverse modern philosophies, don't really care to. Well, Aristotle was an outstanding mathematician and physician, too.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Coach Arlanson

Unless one demonstrates prowess on the athletic fields of major fall, winter, and spring sports, one must yield to the requirement of, at some time, participating in the physical education curriculum of the university—four semesters worth, or the equivalent thereof. Prof. Ellis, chairman of the department, handles all the revenue business. Profs. Malthaner, Palmer, Grimshaw, et al. instruct myriad courses in volleyball, tennis, swimming, squash, diving, baseball, football, soccer, etc. Sound body, sound mind-or something like that.

Seated: Assoc. Prof. Palmer, Prof. Arlanson, Prof. Ellis, Mr. Coe. Standing: Mr. Malthaner, Asst. Prof. Goodfellow, Asst. Prof. Grimshaw.

Seated: Prof. Cormack, Prof. Knipp, Chairman; Assoc. Prof. McCarthy. Standing: Assoc. Prof. Schneps, Assoc. Prof. Milburn, Asst. Prof. Everett, Asst. Prof. Stearns, Asst. Prof. Jacob.

PHYSICS

If Sir Isaac Newton were alive today, he would undoubtedly postulate his three laws as follows: (1) Everybody continues in its uniform state of motion or of rest, provided Professor Schneps remains in his office. (2) Prof. Tessman is directly proportional to the force applied, and in the same direction as the force. (3) For every action there is an equal and opposite Stearns. Strange, but not so strange. We wish to thank Prof. Boltzmann for the constant vigil that he has maintained over Prof. Maxwell's speeding. Mr. Lynch will hold outdoor classes in Washington Square this summer, cum barbe and sheepskin hat.

PSYCHOLOGY

At some time or another if you venture through the corridors of North Hall, you might see a strange little creature scurrying across the floor to a safe corner under some desk or chair. But here the little meeces and rats look like miniature Franksteins, complete with electrodes and capacitors. For North Hall is the home of the Department of Psychology. Professor Crook is the department head, ably abetted by his henchmen Profs. Harleston, Mills, et al. Experiments and classes in behavior and in the methods of psychology are constantly in session. So en garde as you stroll by North Hall, lest you be grabbed by an electrode on a peaceful spring morn, "Eh, Dr. Frankenstein, heh, heh."

Seated: Dr. Carterille, Prof. Crook, Chairman; Dr. Raben.
Standing: Assoc. Prof. Saul, Asst. Prof. Mills, Asst. Prof. Harleston, Asst. Prof. Sampson.

Dr. Harleston

RELIGION

Asst. Prof. Miller, Prof. Ashton, Chairman.

Old and stately Goddard Chapel is the seat of the department of Religion at Tufts. Dr. Ashton, the university chaplain, is its chairman, and comprises one half of the department. Dr. Miller, the assistant chaplain, is the other half of the team. Designed to aid the student to understand more fully the Old and New Testaments and the different religions of the world, the courses delve deeply into the philosophy and thought of the different religions of the world, the courses delve deeply into the philosophy and thought of the different faiths to provide the student with tools for an etude en profondeur. Understanding and encouragement, Drs. Miller and Ashton, are the key words in this department.

Dr. Simches

ROMANCE LANGUAGES

Standing: Mr. DeSua, Asst. Prof. Butler, Mr. Alonso, Mr. Spackey. Seated: Miss Bruno, Mr. Perez de la Dehesa, Assoc. Prof. Whittredge.

Bonjour, buon giorno, buenos días—three words familiar to many of us and likely to be heard at any time on the première étage of Miner Hall. Here resides the Department of Romance Languages, replete with Don Quixote, Dante, François Villon, and Dr. Matheson. Those of us who are acquainted with this enlarged niche of foreign tongues must extend a heart-felt gracias toujours for the color and fervor of the courses, faculty, and diversified activities of the department. With our own Dr. Simches receiving decorations from le gouvernement français with the respects of Monsieur le Président Charles De Gaulle, Harry Levin look out. So adiós, chow, and au revoir—or something like that.

Seated: Dr. Prosser, Dr. Purdy, Assoc. Prof. Pradal. Standing: Monsieur Thomas, Prof. Simches, Chairman; Assoc. Prof. Shapira, Mr. Lanski, Asst. Prof. Matheson.

SOCIOLOGY

High on a certain hill, students of sociology look down upon the social problems of the masses. The department, with a concentration in the field of penology, study of penols, attempts to educate criminally innocent "soc" majors to cope with the corrections of hardened evil-doers, and juvenile she-liquents. Through a process of educated maturation, students learn the basics of crime and its correction, of peoples and their customs. How can we forget Professor Carter's stirring lectures in the chapel on the Murginginmurmnn, and Professor Ullman's outstanding Freshman Assembly lecture on inebriety (huh?).

TUFTS STUDENT COUNCIL

Peter Collins, President.

This year's University Student Council had a new look about it and a vigor not to be denied. Financially, it requested and received a budget appropriation twice that of any previous year; last May in three days it raised pledges of over eighteen hundred dollars for a new WTCR. This year, Council, in an unprecedented action, brought diplomats of international stature to campus; one such visit heralding the first test of academic freedom in the University's history. Administratively Council made inroads into the domain of what was previously solely faculty committee territory, by gaining equal student voice in Judiciary, by planning a University Honor System, through working to lift the moratorium on formation of new student organizations, and even now gaining a voice in the planning of the academic calendar. For the first time this year Council secured for Tufts status as a member university in Operation Crossroads Africa, and for the first time sought to set up formal ties with World University Service.

Insofar as students having a voice in their own government is concerned, for the first time the campus voted in a referendum, solidly defeating a proposal that Tufts affiliate with the NSA. Popular participation in student government in this manner and through committee work, inspired the presentation of plans for a popularly-elected Student Council President. In all, this was a year of vast change, led by an enlightened Council eager to prove its effectiveness as the organ of student government and opinion.

JACKSON STUDENT COUNCIL

The Jackson Student Council has spent another year attempting to alleviate the problems and augment the joys of every Jackson student. Every girl now has the opportunity of being culturally enhanced through the After-Dinner Faculty Lecture Series. Of course, the Council did not forget the freshmen, they got a special bonus; freshman assembly one semester, not two. In addition casual dress policies and date dinners were also instituted during the year. The seniors leave in a blaze of glory as the name of Jackson appears on their diplomas for the first time. Crowning the year's achievement is the installation of coke machines in every dormitory.

Sheli Zysman, President.

Seated: Carol Ray, President. Standing: Betsy Franz, Barbara Kagan, Paulette Conroy, Betty Blake, Chris Timothy, Phyllis Friedlander, Eileen McGroarty.

Carol Ray, President.

JACKSON JUDICIARY

Since its formation in 1956, the Jackson Judiciary Council has been composed of some of the most capable and respected Jaxonites. The Council members this year have had an unusual appreciation of the dual nature of their role which is to provide both correction and guidance to the offender. Behind each decision of the Council there has been a deep respect for the integrity of the individual and of the community. It is for the maintenance of that integrity that Jackson Judiciary functions.

ELIOT-PEARSON LEGISLATIVE- JUDICIAL COUNCIL

The Eliot-Pearson Legislative-Judicial Council functions in approximately the same manner as its Jackson equivalent.

The council concerns itself with the many social problems of the Eliot-Pearson girls. This year there was an attempt to coordinate with the Jackson Judiciary council.

ELIOT-PEARSON STUDENT COUNCIL

Serving as a legislative body the Eliot-Pearson Student Council acts to regulate and promote student activities. Coordination and integration is attempted with the other University Councils.

BOUVE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Bouvé-Boston School Student Government serves as the official body representing the students in matters of general interest. The aim is to promote an awareness of current issues concerning the Tufts campus, the College of Special Studies and Bouvé. This year the council has presented a speaker from NSA, has had an active representation in the Council of Special Studies, and has served as a coordinating body in presenting Parent's weekend and in celebrating Bouvé's fiftieth anniversary.

SPECIAL STUDIES STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Government Association of the College of Special Studies is comprised of representatives from the five schools of the College: Bouvé-Boston, Tufts University-Boston School of Occupational Therapy, Eliot-Pearson, Forsyth and the School of the Museum of Fine Arts. The purpose of the organization is to facilitate understanding and communication within the College and with the University at large, to merge in campus issues and to encourage professional interaction. During the past year the Council has worked cooperatively with Tufts in sponsoring the Orientation Week Mixer and as a separate group in presenting the second of the Student Lecture Series.

First Row: Grace Polesi, Karen Flach, Jayne Paulis, Jan Moxon, Lana Dublin.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

Beth Goldstein, President; Joyce Regan, Sue Gartley, Meg Rich, Betsey Ingraham, Joan Reissick, Maureen Nolan, Dianne DeWitt.

The Panhellenic Council is the governing body of the four sororities at Jackson and is composed of two representatives from each sorority. Its purpose is twofold: First, to increase and insure harmony among the sororities; and secondly to maintain and perpetuate the importance and significance of sororities on the Tufts campus.

OFF-HILL COUNCIL

The Off-Hill Council is the governing body of the nearly 800 students who commute to Tufts. The main functions of the 25 member council are to work for the integration of the commuting student with the Tufts Community, to serve as a sounding board for Off-Hill interests and opinions, and to represent Off-Hill at the Tufts Student Council and in the University Administration. A more or less distinct equally important responsibility which the Council has assumed is the maintenance and supervision of the Hillside House.

Seated: John Enright, Vice-President; Walter Huskins, President; Stephen Sugarman, Treasurer. Standing: Jean Arthur, Karen Brassil, Stephen Clayman, John Kidder, George Ross, Thomas Carty, Frank Haviland, Robert Scapato, John R.

Moore, Barbara Lake, Asst. Secretary; John Donahue, Janet Chiota, Executive Secretary; Susan Clay, Ralph Garret, Marion Moodie, Patricia Kent.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Tufts University Interfraternity Council was founded to promote cooperation among the fraternal organizations and to coordinate their activities.

With these goals in mind, the Council regulates social and rushing matters and intercedes in any problems of an interfraternity nature, such as this year's discrimination issue.

The IFC emphasizes the importance of social groups for the college man and attempts to create an atmosphere for maximizing their benefits.

Stu Edelstein, President.

First Row: Walter Ashby, Bob Ostheys, Jim Worth, Secretary; Dave Kriz, President; Bruce Male, Student Council Representative; Pete Collins, Treasurer; Mark Grant, Bob Hormats. Second Row: Larry DuKatz, Ron Braunfeld, Ed Lechtenberg, Tom Francoline, David Mofenson, Nelson Lovins, Philip

INTER-DORMITORY COUNCIL

The Inter-Dormitory Council is the legislative body representing male dormitory residents. Most important, it is a service organization and, as such, concerns itself with all phases of dormitory life. This involves dining room clothing regulations, a Judiciary Committee, installing pencil sharpeners in study halls, sponsoring the Homecoming Festival and a student arts exhibition and contest, and organizing a carnival for Ivy Weekend.

Dave Kriz, President.

Chris White, Marshal; Pete Bruno, Vice-President; Gus Alexander, Student Council; Dick Schaefer, President; Tom Poole, Treasurer; Fred Clarr, Student Council; Lloyd Salvetti, Student Council. Absent: Phil Harvey, Secretary.

OFFICERS: CLASS OF 1963

Continuing the tradition of past Senior Classes, the Class of 1963 presented the Limelites during the Fall. It also sponsored the Senior Mid-winter Dance at the Sheraton Plaza shortly after Thanksgiving. But, the most important task of the Class Officers was to plan Senior Week. Preparations began as early as May of the Junior Year, continued through the summer and during the entire Senior Year. Our four years at Tufts were culminated with a thoroughly enjoyable and pleasant week in June.

Meg Rich, Treasurer; Carol Strogoff, Vice-President; Matsy Hill, Secretary; Linda Dixon, President; Lynn Mahoney, Student Council Representative; Elaine Golden Marshal; Beth Goldstein, Historian.

OFFICERS: CLASS OF 1964

The Juniors began the year by winding up the profitable Dental School Experiment. The class combined with the sophomores in gathering a wide variety of talent to present the All-College Talent Show, which was entertaining as well as a financial success. The officers then began plans for the traditional Junior Dinner Dance in March, this year held at the Caruso Diplomat in Saugus.

Nancy Worth, Student Council Representative; Roberta Hodson, Secretary; Ann Haselrud, Student Council Representative; Penny Dyer, Marshal; Judy Andrews, Treasurer; Mary Jane Branley, President; Joyce Murnane, Historian.

Andy Kimmel, Student Council Representative; Leland LeBlanc, Secretary; Mike Bernstein, Marshal; Michael Berger, President; Michael Malboeuf, Vice-President; John Lowy, Treasurer; Tom Zaniello, Student Council Representative.

OFFICERS: CLASS OF 1965

The Sophomore class sponsored numerous events in the past year with the object of creating class unity and raising funds. The highlight of the year was the sponsorship of the Dave Brubeck concert in March. Earlier in the year the Class of '65 co-sponsored the

All College Talent Show with the Juniors Class, which was well received by the many in attendance.

Other activities included a dance with the Freshman girls of Simmons College, the sponsorship of a movie, and the running of a booth at the IDC carnival.

Sue Levine, Historian; Rudi Ringwald, Marshal; Maryka Horsting, Treasurer; Sue Bruce, Student Council Representative; Betsy Kay, President; Sybil Killourhy, Secretary; Holly

Schuchard, Student Council Representative; Maggie Britton, Vice-President.

Paul Shagoury, Vice-President; Dave Allen, Secretary; Ray Fuchs, Marshal; Richard Guggenheimer, Treasurer; Gene

Falco, Student Council Representative; Mike Petrie, President.

OFFICERS: CLASS OF 1966

Eager to organize and coordinate their respective classes, the 1966 class officers soon drafted plans for the spring semester. These were to include a work day, movie, car wash, and picnic.

Sunny Moran, Student Council Representative; Joan Diefenbach, Marshal; Karen Dubay, Treasurer; Barbara Pollack, President; Sue Blecker, Vice-President; Barbara Dubin, Secretary.

TOWER CROSS

Founded in 1897, Tower Cross, the Senior Class Honorary Society, is pledged to use every effort to promote the highest good of their Alma Mater. It consists of ten men who have made outstanding contributions to the Tufts community. The functions of the Society are to nominate student representatives to the Tufts Athletic Association, to select judges for the homecoming displays and to conduct the Christmas and Spring Sings.

Would you repeat that, Bert.

IVY SOCIETY

In 1901 the undergraduates and faculty of Tufts College, desiring to recognize outstanding juniors on the Hill, established an honorary society, the Ivy Society, whose members were elected by their class. More than sixty years later, it still retains its original purposes and functions; serving the University through the preparation and publication of the Ivy Book, the sponsorship of Ivy Weekend, traditionally the most important social weekend of the year at Tufts, and as escort for official senior class functions.

SWORD AND SHIELD

Once again the Sword and Shield Traditions Society fulfilled its usual orientation week duties, including the publication and sale of the Freshman Directory. A spirited freshman song-fest and Traditions Dance were held. In addition to these usual duties, the members assisted in Tradition Tours for Freshmen and, for the first time, the Society assumed the responsibility of conducting tours for pre-freshmen visiting Tufts. It also ushered at many school events and welcomed visiting athletic teams.

GOLD KEY

Gold Key is the Senior Women's Honorary Society which annually recognizes a maximum of twelve girls who have made distinct contributions to the Tufts Community. Members are chosen on the basis of scholastic achievement and participation in extracurricular activities. The purposes of the Society are to inspire and cultivate school loyalty and class unity and to serve as official Jackson Senior Class officers.

CHIRONIANS

The Chironian Society is the Jackson Sophomore honor society which gives recognition to those twenty-six sophomore girls who have been considered outstanding on the basis of scholarship, personality, and participation in extracurricular activities. The members act as guides to prospective freshmen and other visitors to the Tufts campus, assist at various alumnae functions as well as school functions, and provide for a program of speakers to visit high schools and publicize Jackson. This year, the Chironians are very capably headed by Linda Lister.

Lucinda Farmer, Sue Hirschfelder, Elizabeth Szwarc, Rudi Ringwald. Third Row: Ellie Elwell, Judy Moss, Maren Gale, Maryka Horsting, Joyce Sydney.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Seated: Margaret Rich, Edna Freeman, Elizabeth Blake. Standing: Constantine Alexander, Robert Centola, Prof. F. Abbott, Prof. G. Sames, Prof. Ashton, Dr. Jones, Prof. J. Schneps, Prof. Jacob, Robert Schleif.

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest of the Greek-letter fraternities, was founded by a group of students at the College of William and Mary in 1776. Originally a secret society, the group has dropped its secrecy, and functions solely as an honorary society. Membership is attained through election by the faculty members of the university's chapter. Since entrance requirements are very stringent and attainable only by upperclassmen, Phi Beta Kappa membership is universally acknowledged as a notable achievement for any college student.

SOCIETY OF SCHOLARS

Formation of this Society resulted from a desire to recognize the academic achievements of undergraduates who could not yet qualify for Phi Beta Kappa or Tau Beta Pi. Members are chosen annually and consist of the three highest ranking members of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes of the three colleges—Liberal Arts, Jackson, and Engineering. Ex Officio members include the President of the University, who is President of the Society, and the Deans of the three colleges.

TAU BETA PI

Tau Beta Pi is the national engineering honor fraternity whose purpose is "to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor on their alma mater by distinguished service and exemplary characters as undergraduates."

Massachusetts Delta, the Tufts chapter sponsors slide rule classes, freshman awards, banquets, and other service and social activities.

ENGINEERING COUNCIL

The Tufts Engineering Council was originated in 1947 by Tau Beta Pi. The purposes of this council are to coordinate the activities of the College of Engineering with the programs sponsored by the University, to sponsor joint meetings of the member engineering societies, and to represent more fully the College of Engineering in the undergraduate affairs of Tufts University. In addition, the Council has stimulated interest in engineering education by sponsoring tours of the University's engineering facilities.

ASME

ASME serves the Tufts community in a very meager fashion, if it can even be said that it "serves" at all. Though perhaps not a mandatory procedure for Mechanical Engineering students, membership is highly advisable as the instructors seem to know full well who joins and who is an independent thinker.

AIEE-IRE

The Electrical Engineering Society is a joint branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers. The purpose of the Society is to develop a professional attitude among the electrical engineering students. Meetings are held monthly, at which time lectures and demonstrations by prominent engineers are presented.

Edmund J. Mitchell. Third Row: Joseph Orpen, Bernard Mitchell, Donald Pearson, Francis Powers, David Gray, Philip Congdon, Dave Sturtevant, Allan Rosenberg.

AIChE

Promoting awareness of the functions and responsibilities of the chemical engineer is the main purpose of the Tufts Student Chapter of the AIChE. The monthly meetings are centered around speakers employed in some phase of chemical engineering. Luncheons and regional conferences are also attended.

AICE

The American Society of Civil Engineers is composed of civil engineering students who pass as experts on the strength of their ability to turn out, with prolific fortitude, strings of incomprehensible formulae (obvious to the most casual observer), calculated with micrometric precision from nebulous assumptions which are based on insignificant figures acquired from inconclusive tests and incomplete lab experiments, carried out with instruments of problematic accuracy by persons of questionable reliability and rather dubious mentality with a particular talent for disconcerting and annoying everyone outside of their own fraternity.

dict, Fred Wales, Fred Schaejbe, Robert Wigglesworth, Harold Benoit, Samuel Rice. Third Row: Owen Lowe, John Maury, Christian Casagrande, John Looney, Ed McSweeney, Peter Wheeler.

Tuesday afternoon drills; summer trips to the Mediterranean, the Baltic, and perhaps someday Tahiti; summer camp in Texas and Quantico; Navigation charts; Psychology 1; and the drill practice all leave noteworthy memories in the mind of the destined fly-boy or swabe. The approaching commissionings are eagerly awaited by all; the anticipation of an exciting life for the newly commissioned officers.

CHEMISTRY SOCIETY

Any student who is interested in chemistry is eligible for membership into the Chemical Society. Speakers addressing the society are drawn from the Tufts faculty, neighboring colleges, and industry. The lectures are usually followed by informal discussions. Planned trips to various plants of chemical interest complement the program.

GEOLOGY CLUB

The Tufts Geology Club was organized in 1949 to provide a social organization for the geologically-minded. The Club's activities include field trips, movies, and lectures by members of the club, faculty, and guests.

First Row: Robert Glazier, Vice-President; Mary Lamb, Treasurer; Mary Dowell, Secretary. Second Row: Bob Weeks, Ray Coveny, Al Shaw, President; Barbara Fellows, Jo Marley.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

The Philosophy Club meets bi-weekly in the Braker Hall Lounge to discuss informally the implications of particular philosophical problems. Topics in the past have ranged from the moral, "Is it ever justifiable to break the law?" to the theological, "The ethical basis of Atheism." While the Club hopes to sponsor philosophic speakers of interest to the University as a whole, its prime responsibility is to provide a forum for speculative thought within the student body.

First Row: Stephen Gariepy, Valerie Szigeti, President; Robert Schleif, Vice-President. Second Row: John Cirignano, Peter J. Limon, Secretary.

PHYSICS CLUB

Tufts' Physics Club meets once a month to stimulate interest in physics. Lecturers from Tufts and nearby institutions are invited to speak on all phases of the subject and on the relation of physics to other sciences and its application concerning anything from philosophy to engineering. An annual trip is usually planned to a point of scientific interest.

PRE-MED SOCIETY

The Tufts Premedical Society affects a consolidation of the premedical community on campus and offers to this community stimulating and informative lectures, discussion groups, and films. The Society's function is to broaden the undergraduate experience of the premedical student and to reveal to him a picture of medical study and practice which is founded upon reality.

PRE-LEGAL SOCIETY

The purpose of the Pre-Legal Society is to provide for the prospective law student information concerning the profession and law education which is not readily available elsewhere. With a membership of approximately thirty, the society meets three times a semester, usually entertaining guest speakers who discuss some aspect of the legal profession.

ECONOMICS CLUB

The Economics Club has as its purpose the stimulation of interest in the study of Economics. Its membership is drawn from a variety of major fields representing a cross-section of the university. There is, however, one trait which provides a common bond; that is, the love of money.

FORENSIC SOCIETY

The Tufts University Forensic Council is composed of all students interested in debating. Its primary activity in the past year was participation in intercollegiate debating tournaments. In addition, the Council sponsored an annual invitational tournament at Tufts which drew teams from all over New England. Interest in this organization has grown immensely in the past academic year.

Tom Hale, Ira Wolf, President; Mill Lamoureux, Secretary-Treasurer.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

The purpose of the French Club is to foster interest in the culture, history, literature, and arts of France and to provide an opportunity for students of French to gather and speak the language. Sporadic meetings have been held featuring speakers about timely subjects.

PSI CHI

Psi Chi, National Honorary Society in Psychology functions to advance the science of psychology and to encourage, stimulate, and maintain the scholarship of its individual members. The Tufts chapter sponsors many programs of diversified psychological interest for the Tufts community, including speakers and movies on career opportunities in psychology.

Bert Meltzler, Ruth Allen, Beth Goidstein.

FOURTH ESTATE

The Fourth Estate is the honorary literary society on the Tufts campus. Its members include those people who have continually proven themselves outstanding in their work on the Tufts literary publications.

ALPHA KAPPA DELTA

The Tufts Chapter of Alpha Kappa Delta was organized in 1953 as the Alpha Chapter of Massachusetts, a branch of the National Honor Society in Sociology. Its purpose is to allow for further investigation into special fields and to help establish closer student-faculty relations. Members of Alpha Kappa Delta are chosen on the basis of high scholarship in the field of sociology.

Lorene Douglas, Richard Bourne, President; Joan Carnes, Jo Hallett.

OMICRON CHI EPSILON

Omicron Chi Epsilon functions to provide stimulating programs of lectures and discussions in the fields of economics. Its members include not only economic majors but all those interested in this field. It has regular monthly meetings in Braker Hall.

LAMBERT-KINGSLEY SOCIETY

The Lambert-Kingsley Society was organized in 1938 as an honorary biological society for the purpose of promoting interest, fellowship, and research in the field of biology. Honorary membership is for those students who have 16 or more credits of biology and who have at least a 3.4 cumulative average in those courses. The program features guest speakers of great prominence in the field of biology.

Alan Bar, Mike Rich, President; Roger Kallhovd, Stu Edelstein.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The Tufts International Club was organized in 1955 to establish contact among the foreign students of all the undergraduate and graduate schools of Tufts University, as well as with foreign student organizations of other schools. The club helps orient newly arriving foreign students and promotes better social and intellectual cooperation between the foreign and American Tufts students.

INTERNATIONAL-RELATIONS CLUB

The International Relations Club is organized to promote a wide student interest in the background and course of international affairs. In order to achieve this purpose, it invites the participation of the whole campus in a program of visiting lecturers, round-table discussions, and films about matters of world-wide importance.

Margo Beverley, Don Northrup, Paula Veiner, Dick Bourne, Bambi Zimmerman, Dick Cauchi.

LEONARD CARMICHAEL SOCIETY

Established in 1958 as a permanent community service organization, Leonard Carmichael Society coordinates volunteer activities on the Tufts campus to fulfill the needs of the surrounding community. Every week regular volunteers work at mental institutions, general hospitals, social service agencies, and associations for the blind. The annual campus blood drive and educational tutoring are also part of the program.

CHESS CLUB

As the center of campus chess activity, the Chess Team provides informal play for its members and represents Tufts in intercollegiate matches. Instruction and practice are available to the beginner as well as to the expert player. The regular Metropolitan Chess League season pairs Tufts against many of the schools in the area. Upon completion of the season in March, the team sponsors a tournament for the entire campus.

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship is a national interdenominational student organization dedicated to presenting the relevance of the Lord Jesus Christ to college students. Students, from many different churches, unite in the conviction that college life can be meaningful through faith and that spiritual growth is not only possible, but essential. The Tufts I.V.C.F. chapter encourages personal growth in Christian discipleship through individual and group Bible study, prayer, discussion, conferences, and lectures.

RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

The Tufts Religious Council works to coordinate the activities of all religious clubs on campus. The representatives of the different clubs discuss mutual problems and sponsor lectures, movies, and discussions, helping to stimulate religious interest on campus.

Bradford Lewis, Helen Hunter, Vice-President; Joe Jacobs, President; Emily Laslett, Secretary; Betsy Franz, Lawrence Rellett, Carl E. Anderson.

CANTERBURY CLUB

The Canterbury Club is the organization for Episcopalian students on the Tufts Campus. In a quiet way the group pursues its aims and goals for Christ and His Church on campus as a witness and reminder to all of our own valuable "roots" in the Christian Faith. In the midst of academic freedom and secular interests, our worship and programs indicate that it is still possible to be dedicated Christians at the same time we are being open-minded inquirers into all truth.

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB

The Congregational Club aims at fostering fellowship and Christian understanding among the Congregational students at Tufts University. In its fourth year under the leadership of Crosby Loomis, the club has continued to sponsor the lectures, panel discussions, and other activities which it has engaged in in the past. It also has regular Sunday evening meetings.

WESLEY CLUB

With an integrated program of academic, social, and religious significance, the Wesley Fellowship enjoys an enthusiastic and stimulating year, exploring topics of individual interest in the areas of modern Christian Doctrine, ecumenics, and discrimination. In addition to the Sunday evening meetings presenting notable speakers, Wesley sponsors retreats and study groups.

HILLEL

The Hillel Foundation on the Tufts campus maintains a varied program to meet the social, intellectual, cultural, and religious needs of the Jewish student. The group provides regular Sunday morning brunches featuring bagels and interesting speakers. Friday evening services are held weekly, with the Ongai Shabbat that follow. Counseling is made available to the student who seeks it, whether it be of a religious or personal nature.

Sue Herschfelder, Secretary; Steve Stone, Treasurer; Dorothy Altman, President.

UNITY CLUB

The Unity Club is composed largely of Unitarians and Universalists who meet each Sunday evening in Barnum Lounge. At their meetings they have speakers or stimulating discussions on religion or another subject of intellectual interest. Their yearly program is designed to interest both the religious liberals and the intellectuals on the Tufts Campus.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club continued its growth this year in a program of religious, educational, and social activities. Meetings were held every Wednesday and Mass was said on Sundays in Cohen Auditorium. The club brought noted speakers to the campus, these events being open to the University. The club also sponsored such social events as dances, a hayride in the fall, picnics, a Christmas party for children, and a Communion Breakfast in the spring.

In the spring of 1962, Richard Cardinal Cushing donated a house to aid the Club in its organization and in continued development of its activities. The Cushing Center is located just a few blocks from the main campus, and also serves as a social center for the Club.

EASTERN ORTHODOX CLUB

The Eastern Orthodox Club has guest lecturers from the Greek Orthodox seminary in Brookline. Its activities also include religious discussions and debates within the group. Various religious and social affairs for colleges in the Boston area sponsored by NEFCOS are attended. Proceeds from a movie shown on campus are given to charity.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CLUB

The Christian Science Organization is a small but active group of students who meet weekly for religious services and sponsor an annual lecture on Christian Science for the college community. Several times during the academic year, it cooperates with similar groups at neighboring colleges in social activities and special events for its members.

First Row: Chris Giotopoulos, President; George Cholaki, Recording Secretary; Ted Georgian. Second Row: Gus Alexander, Dennis Kochansky, George Yankopolus.

ODIKON

Odikon is the Tufts undergraduate honorary music society. During the year it presents several lectures which are open to the public and the annual "Pops Night at Tufts." Members enjoy the annual May banquet at which the new officers are inducted and the new members initiated. The highlight of this year was the Society's cooperative effort with the Chorus to organize a concert series on the Tufts campus.

CHORUS

The Tufts University Chorus, under the direction of Kenneth MacKillop, Jr., is one of the most active campus organizations. This year the Chorus presented its 17th annual Christmas Concert and reception, and its 7th annual Concert Tour—an eventful pilgrimage for Tufts and music enthusiasts in Connecticut, New York, and Pennsylvania. The spring program included a joint concert at Endicott College, and as a tribute to John Holmes, a concert of his poetry set to music by Professor MacKillop. The annual Spring Concert, and a performance at Tufts Night at the Pops concluded this year's concert activities. In addition to its performances, the Chorus helped establish and sponsor the new Combined Arts Concert Series.

BAND

The band completed a winning season during the fall by thoroughly drubbing the Bates, Trinity, and Williams bands, and the Off-Hill Council. We won the Amherst game by default and were only slightly shaded by Northeastern. Our winter "Pops" concert was attended by a larger audience than in years past; and we easily won their favor. Under the fine direction of Dr. William King and student directors E. E. Clark & G. R. Gartlett, the '63 band was the biggest and best in many years.

PEN, PAINT AND PRETZELS

Pen, Paint, and Pretzels, the somewhat-Honorary, mostly-Undergraduate, overly-Dramatic, anti-Society, had another sterling (plated) year. The season included Joan of Lorraine, Our Town, and Dark of the Moon. In addition there were the ever-interesting lectures and discussions with the ever-amiable Dr. Thaddeus Fink.

LUIGI CLUB

The Luigi Club of East Hall is the original dormitory organization, whose spirit distinguishes it from a mere "house council." For more than fifteen years the club and its marble mascot have gone to the fore in dormitory athletic and social events. The club's activities usually include a banquet, a picnic, participation in the Trophy of Trophies competition, and several parties. Luigi-ites also gather in their recreation room to play pool and ping-pong, or linger in the Luigi kitchen to chat with the freshmen on phone duty and receive calls from their many female admirers.

ALPHA EPSILON NU

Peace or Piece, AEN lives up to high standards. Founded four years ago by disgruntled freshmen in Miller Hall, AEN has spread and prospered. Over the years AEN has espoused many aims and principles, some of which have been incorporated into college life (and this is the TRUTH): it was an AEN who caused the Administration to effect the female "open door policy." It took an AEN to flunk out two of the three semesters he was here. An AEN caused the Administration to force package store deliveries from campus. An AEN was asked to withdraw from the University after completion of less than three months of his first semester here. It was the remainder of the AEN membership that first advocated the taking of the Weekly's yearbook picture on the Delt house porch.

SPORTS CAR CLUB

The Tufts Sports Car Club was organized to bring together students interested in sports car activities, and skillful but sensible driving on the highways. During the school year, movies and refreshments are offered to those attending meetings. The Tufts club is closely associated with similar organizations at neighboring colleges and, in cooperation with them, holds competitive events during the year.

RADIO CLUB

The Tufts University Amateur Radio Society exists to provide an interest within the student body in radio communication and the practical aspects of radio operation. Although it is primarily a social organization, it encourages "on the air" activities at its station, W1KN, and the improvement of the members' home stations by exchange of technical information and construction of the latest equipment. In this informal atmosphere the beginners receive help in obtaining their licenses and establishing their stations. The society also seeks to provide to the greater student body, as much as its facilities permit, the services of amateur radio and information about the many phases of amateur radio.

JACKSON ALL-AROUND CLUB

The Jackson All-Around Club is primarily a social organization of which all Jackson students are members. The activities of the year began with a breakfast during orientation week and the traditional bus tour of the historic sights of Boston. The Student-Faculty Tea this year was an overwhelming success. Other activities included the annual semi-formal dance and the All-Jackson Banquet in the spring.

Betty Finnegan, Cathy Krandell, Maureen Nolan, Betsy Orman, President; Sharon Mead, Sandy Mason.

JACKSON ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The prime function of the Jackson Athletic Association is the promotion of interest and participation in girls' sports. Each season, colleges in the area, such as Pembroke, Radcliffe, and U.N.H., are invited to match their teams against unbeatable Jackson varsities. JAA also sponsors interdormitory and inter-sorority com-

Specialized groups, such as the Marlins and the Modern Dancers, present their own programs at the end of the academic year. In the spring, athletic awards are presented at a sumptuous banquet.

Klaran McKusiek, Lorene Douglas, Judy Fuqua, Sally Case, President; Diane DeWitt, Penny Dyer, Barbara Lynch.

Dennis Hickey, Vice-President; Phil Cline, Recording Secretary; Ron Millard, President; Neil Cowlets, Corresponding Secretary; Frank Babel, Treasurer; Jim Sample, Assistant Treasurer.

VARSAITY CLUB

It is the primary goal of the Tufts Varsity Club to further the growth of both campus and outside interest in athletics at Tufts. All lettermen in varsity sports are members, and meetings are frequently enhanced by guest speakers. The club also manages the refreshment stand at many school functions and in the spring sponsors a banquet for the recognition of outstanding athletes.

CHEERLEADERS

For the senior cheerleaders the past year was a great way to end a college career. The primary athletic interest on campus is, of course, the football team, and the cheerleaders traveled to four of its five away games, besides cheering at all the home games. Homecoming, however, was the most unforgettable. During this weekend, the cheerleaders led a torchlight parade onto the old campus where a bonfire and rally were held for the team. If ever the spirit of Tufts supporters was evident, it was evident on that weekend.

MOUNTAIN CLUB

The Tufts Mountain Club was founded in 1939 to provide skiing, hiking, rock climbing and other outdoor activity facilities for the students of Tufts and Jackson. A ski lodge provides for skiing and climbing in the White Mountains, while many short trips are taken to areas near Tufts for afternoon activities. The T.M.C. also conducts classes for beginners in skiing and rock climbing. The aim of the Mountain Club's activities is to promote a sense of responsibility and integrity in its membership, through cooperation in the enjoyment of outdoor sports. It should also be noted that the T.M.C. officially sponsored the first American expedition to attempt Mount Everest in June, 1962.

YACHT CLUB

The Tufts Yacht Club was established in 1939 to promote the interests of Tufts students in intercollegiate and local yachting, the ideas of Corinthian yachting, and the development of college yacht racing. Today, it has boats and facilities situated at the Mystic Lakes which are available to all undergraduates, faculty, staff, and alumni of Tufts University.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The Young Republican Club in fostering a greater knowledge of our political system and a greater awareness of the citizen's role in the governmental process through participation in the affairs of the Republican Party aids the Tufts Community, the State, and the Nation. Through education and active work, the Young Republican Club brings to the student the information and the opportunity needed to fulfill his role as a well-formed, articulate, and active citizen.

Young Americans for Freedom was founded in 1960 by a conference of young conservatives from all over the country. Taking as its platform the "Sharon Statement," Y.A.F. is seeking, through political action, to advance the cause of conservatism throughout the country in colleges and communities. Its membership is open to all under 39 years of age and in agreement with the "Sharon Statement."

The Tufts Chapter was started in the spring of 1962 by a small group of interested students. Since then, through a series of very successful programs, its membership has more than quadrupled and can today be called one of the largest and most active political groups in the Tufts community.

TUFTS WEEKLY

The Tufts Weekly editorial board consists of 20 Tufts and Jackson students who meet each Friday afternoon to solve the problems of the world. During the academic year '62-'63, editorials focused on such issues as NSA, fraternity discrimination, Jackson curfews, A. Bernard, Cokes, NSA, Popular Election protection, and the left wing.

September and Igor Webb saw the beginning of the twice-weekly publication of the newspaper. The move facilitated better sports, student council, and editor effigy-burning coverage. At the Office the change meant double-time activity with Editor Webb setting the pace as the fastest man around.

At this time, "The Arts Section," often called the "Esoteric Section," was incorporated under the pedagogical counsel of Michael Schmidt. Here, sharp analyses of films and plays, paintings and poetry, found a regular route to the campus.

An eight-year male dynasty came to an end when Carol Seiderman became the second semester editor. Immediately the office furniture was rearranged along with the paper's name; similar spirit was reflected in the pink April Fool's issue, or was it the spirit of liberalism? Two columns were added: "Crosswinds" which featured student comments on world events, and "To Hill and Back" which headed pertinent information from other campuses.

Continuing a policy of liberalism, the Weekly was the recipient of many attacks—sometimes warranted and sometimes unwarranted—for its focused editorial position. Several head-on-collisions with various NSA, fraternity, administrative, and political groups characterized an organ which served as a point of interest and controversy.

While Weekly-campus relations were not always cordial, the editors went out of their way to help readers attain enlightenment. Stimulation was evidenced by the constant barrage of Letters to the Editor.

News coverage focused on those events which interested the majority of students; feature and editorial content, geared to elevate as well as to interest, sought to initiate new ideas on campus.

JUMBO

Secret meetings in the small hours of the morning, an editor with a Simon Legree complex, and a motley group of pseudo businessmen—that's what good yearbooks are made of. The critics, 'tis true, out-numbered the workers, but because of a high intellectual orientation and a deep sense of humility, the Jumbo managed to struggle through castigation and corruption quite well.

With deadlines' wingéd chariot hurrying near, and articles, pictures, and artwork still to be completed, the harried, time-ridden mortals found it well-nigh impossible to produce a book of high quality, a tribute to the gods, a gift to Olympia, the Elysian Fields, our readers, bless them. Hoping we have succeeded, we make offering of our sacrifice. May it both please you and stimulate you, and become for you a source of joy and pathos throughout your days.

FOOTBALL

Varsity practices by moonlight.

Curtis crumples Crimson.

During their two and a half weeks of pre-season practice the Jumbos overpowered Springfield and Harvard in scrimmages. The Harvard scrimmage was particularly memorable, as juniors Ralph Doran and Bob Serino and sophomores Pete Smith and Steve Karp showed potential. Doran, who had scored on two long runs against Springfield, demonstrated great outside speed that could complement the inside running prowess of Ron Deveaux. He scored once from the Harvard five and was stopped on the Crimson one after a spectacular kickoff return.

Tufts was superb on defense. An excited crowd from the Hill will never forget Dennis Hickey's one handed interception of a long pass and Virgil Aiello's fine block that cleared Hickey's path into Harvard territory. Few expected to see the Jumbos dominate as they did at Harvard, but after this preview, there was a definite air of optimism on the Hill, and people were predicting the first undefeated season and a Lambert Cup win for Harry Arlanson.

It was expected that the Jumbos would continue their habit of starting the season with a win. When they opened against Bates at the Oval, they did exactly this, routing the Bobcats 30-12. Deveaux, Doran, and Pete Titus had a field day as Bates loaded the middle of its defensive line. Doran and Titus ate up yardage on sweeps, and when Bates moved to the outside, Dennis Hickey began to give the ball to Deveaux. The hard-running fullback gained 103 yards in 16 carries, and scored a TD. Pete Titus also contributed a TD, and Ralph Doran rang up two before the Tufts reserves came off the bench to finish the game.

It was a rainy Saturday at Brunswick, Maine, as the Tufts eleven took on the Polar Bears of Bowdoin. A dry football and good footing are essential to Harry Arlanson's offense. Under the slippery conditions, the bread-and butter play of this offense, fullback off-tackle, was not so effective as it had been previously.

Deveaux dives for extra yardage.

Quarterback Dennis Hickey took to the air and to his halfbacks Doran and Titus on end sweeps, and in this way engineered a 16-0 victory. Pete Titus displayed a handy skill at catching flying footballs. He caught a Hickey pass to set up the first Jumbo TD and flagged down a Bowdoin aerial to stop a Polar Bear threat deep in Tufts territory. Carmine Parisi cut down a Bowdoin defender to spring Ralph Doran for 43 yards and the second Jumbo TD. As in the previous game of the Tufts-Bowdoin series, key Jumbo players suffered critical injuries. Pete Hourihan, an end, and Bob Serino, an outstanding linebacker were the Polar Bears' victims this time.

A week later, the Jumbos traveled to Waterville, Maine, to meet the Colby Mules. The game was played in the midst of a northeaster, but the wind and the rain could not take the Tufts ground attack out of high gear. The Jumbo ball-carriers amassed a staggering total of 410 yards gained rushing in grinding out the 28-6 victory. The first offensive play of the game by Tufts set up the pattern. Ralph Doran took a handoff from Dennis Hickey and slid through a hole made by Pete Smith, Don Curtis, and Ted Morine. He went 52 yards to score.

The "Moose" gained "All-East" recognition for his tremendous line play in this game.

Clean uniforms appear in the third quarter.

Trinity came to the Oval on Homecoming Day and found a crowd of excited Tufts Alumni and a Jumbo eleven intent on avenging the defeat of the previous year. The Jumbos had rolled up an average of 330 yards rushing in their first three victories and had not needed to reveal Harry Arlanson's passing attack. On Tufts first play from scrimmage, Dennis Hickey took the ball from center Mark McDuffee, beautifully faked a running play, and rolled out to his left. His pass to Pete Titus was good for 39 yards, setting up the first touchdown for the Jumbos. The Bantams were stunned and did not recover for quite a while, as the Jumbos scored the first four times they handled the ball. Tufts could do nothing wrong in racking up this 42-8 triumph, which vaulted them to second place in the Lambert Cup standings. They delighted the crowd as Tim Brannan and Ralph Doran intercepted Trinity passes. Carmine Parisi plucked the pigskin from Don Taylor, the Bantam quarterback, and Virgil Aiello blocked a punt. Deveaux, Doran, Hickey, Titus and Pete Owens all scored for Tufts.

Manager Jim Fay.

Two weeks later Tufts met Williams, a team boasting 21 returning lettermen and a goal-line that hadn't been crossed in some 500 minutes of football. The last ball carrier to cross that line was Ralph Doran, in the game of the 1961 season. The Williams defense kept this statistic intact for three quarters and nearly ten minutes. During this time they had thwarted five Jumbo advances inside their 20 yard line. A large gathering of Tufts supporters cheered and then groaned as the Williams defenders repeatedly stopped the Jumbo juggernaut. In the fourth period, after Williams had stopped an 88 yard Tufts drive on their six-inch line, a bad punt gave Tufts the ball on the Williams 30. Doran and Deveau alternated carries to the Broken field exhibition run by Ralph Doran.

Williams one-yard line, and then Dennis Hickey dove over for the TD. Doran ran the two-point conversion. Williams' last ditch drive penetrated into Jumbo territory, but this time it was Tufts who rose to the occasion to preserve the 8-0 victory.

The Amherst game was a meeting of two undefeated and high-ranking teams. Tufts was ranked first in the Lambert Cup standings and Amherst was fourth. Another large crowd of Tufts rooters was on hand, in a cold, steady downpour, but their cheers could not keep the Lord Jeffs from downing the Jumbos, 13-0. Amherst scored very late in each half, but the critical play of the game occurred early when Ralph Doran, after making a Tufts first down, was forced out of bounds. He tripped against an unyielding sideline marker (held, no doubt by an Amherst man). The accident put him out of action for the remainder of the season. With Doran out, Deveau represented Tufts only threat against the strong Amherst defense and no one knew this better than coach Jim Ostendarp and his proteges. Deveau was held to 83 yards and was bounded by three or four Amherst tacklers each time he carried. Tufts ball-handlers fumbled the wet ball nine times and lost the ball on four of these occasions. Co-captain Don Curtis played well in defeat, and blocked an Amherst punt to set up Tufts' first scoring opportunity, but this was fumbled away.

Steve Karp shows future potential.

Little All-American Ron Deveau.

Deveaux broke loose once in the second half as he cut back after finding a hole cleared by Carmine Parisi and Walt Lewicki, but Ron had trouble navigating on the slippery field and was brought down from behind after a 35 yard jaunt.

The Jumbos returned to the Oval to take on the Huskies of Northeastern on November 10. Once again the field conditions were detrimental to the Tufts ground game. Dennis Hickey had been injured in the Amherst game and John Nyhan replaced him at quarterback. Taking advantage of inexperienced substitutes, Northeastern scored a touchdown via passing late in the first half. They quickly added another 3 points on a 46 yard field goal by Max St. Victor. This proved to be the winning margin, as Bert Meltzer burst through the line for an eight yard touchdown run in the fourth period after sophomore Steve Karp had brought the Jumbos into scoring position with a pass to Tim Brannan.

Co-capt. Don Curtis and Unsung Hero Bert Meltzer.

Dejected spirits are lifted at half-time.

Another field goal meant defeat for Tufts and victory for Commander Otto Graham's Coast Guard Cadets at New London the following Saturday. The Cadets put together a touchdown and a field goal to top the Jumbos, 9-8. As in the games against Amherst and Northeastern, the Jumbos showed that they were a much better team than the score indicated. Sophomore Pete Smith scored on a 34 yard pass from Dennis Hickey and Ron Deveaux ran for the two-point conversion. Deveaux closed his brilliant career with a never-to-be-forgotten performance. He rushed for 170 yards, bringing this three year total to nearly 2300 yards gained. Much of Deveaux's success is due to the fine blocking of his senior teammates: Pete Titus, Bert Meltzer, Don Curtis, Mark McDuffee, Carmine Parisi, Virgil Aiello, Pete Hourihan, and Walt Lewicki.

Kneeling: A. Kaupp, L. Robinson. Standing: T. Forsyth, R. Simjian, A. Shaw, T. Hale, A. Runner, Coach Dussault.

Coach Ding Dussault was hampered again this year by a lack of depth in his cross country squad. Suffering the loss of Captain Charlie Beckman, who entered medical school in September, the harriers began their season with a seven man team which, aided by Arnie Kaupp's sixth place grabbing effort, managed to snatch third place in its opening meet at Franklin Field vs. Boston College, M.I.T., and Brandeis. The high light of the otherwise disappointing season was an upset of Amherst on a wet, mud-spattered course. For the second successive year, the Jumbos put forth a winning effort against the highly rated Lord Jeffs.

SOCCER

The 1962 soccer season brought forth one of the worst records and the finest team in recent years. The final record; three wins and seven losses, cannot adequately account for the quality of play. W.P.I., Babson, and Clark were solid victories offsetting defeats at Harvard, Amherst, and Wesleyan. The remaining four contests pointed up the lack of a scoring punch to back up a strong defense as the team suffered defeat at the hands of M.I.T. (1-0) and Trinity (2-1), while succumbing to a similar fate at U. Mass. and B.U.

As in previous years, the defense was brilliant. Led by Captain Phil Klein at center-half, the black six threw back attack after attack. On his left Klein was assisted by senior John MacPeake while captain-elect Neil Cowles played on his right. Fullbacks Ron Wallace and Ed Solomon were considered by many to be the finest two-man team in New England. Solomon, a junior, was selected as a member of the All-New England Team. The goal tending duties were performed aptly by sophomore Jim Kauffman.

One of Klein's capers.

Wallace maneuvers vs. Clark.

The offense was plagued both by lack of experience and injuries to key players. Tom Poole, who won All-New England honors in his sophomore year, led the line at left-inside. The rest of the linemen were all underclassmen. This fact raises hopes for a successful campaign next season. Among those expected to return are juniors Mike Lewis and Chuck Coltman, and sophomores Collins, Babijide, and Osthues.

The Tufts mermen under the instruction of Coach Alvin Malthaner completed a season marked by several distinguishing individual performances. Senior diver Neal Robison showed continued improvement throughout the year, and is among the best in the league. While John Tinker, a Sophomore, broke the pool record no less than six times on his way to a final time of 2:21.8 in the 200 yard backstroke. In his final season, Captain Jim Champlin improved his time in the 50 yard free style to establish a record of 23.4 which he swam consistently, in preparation for his 23.2 in the New Englands.

INDOOR TRACK

The indoor track squad of 1962-63 was strongly hampered by a serious lack of depth. The varsity squad, numbering only thirteen, managed to squeak out a win over Brandeis in the last meet of the season, however.

Captain Larry Smith and Ivan Cohen, New England champions in the fifty-yard dash and 1,000 yard run respectively, were the two bright spots on the team. Smith went undefeated in the fifty and ran leadoff on the relay. Cohen generally ran both the 1,000 and 600 yard runs, and occasionally ran the relay. Ivan set a cage record in the 1,000 and was this year's M.V.P.

They're off in the freshmen relay.

Sample in the relay.

Consistent performances by Phil Klein in the broad jump; Pete Smith and Joe Gremm, two promising Sophomore hurdlers; Bill McPhee and Wendell Wilkinson in the high jump; Arnold Kupp and Tom Forsyth, Sophomore distance men; Dennis Hickey in the pole vault; and captain-elect Jim Sample in the 600; were not sufficient to win the dual meets, but the relay team of Smith, Kersey, Sample, and Cohen made a good showing in the B.A.A. meet as they won their heat and the respect they had hoped for.

Cohen leads around final turn in the 600.

The Jumbo five suffered a hard season whose 3-17 record does not nearly reflect the spirit and desire which kept the team close in almost every contest. Captain Paul Berger was the spark plug throughout the season, leading the team in scoring with the help of individual performances like a 35 point total in the Brandeis game. Paul Goldberger also displayed outstanding ability on several occasions, while Tom Brennan rounded out the nucleus of Seniors with all around hustle and consistent double figure scoring. Encouraging Coach Grimshaw's hopes for next year were Sophomores Steve Solomon and Dave Jacobsen. Dave did an excellent job under the boards against taller opponents, and Steve, by virtue of a 26 point total at Springfield, was the high scorer among the Sophomores. Junior back court man, Vandy French distinguished himself in many games, and was honored by being placed on the second All Beanpot Tourney Team.

WRESTLING

1963 saw Tuft's wrestling team post a 3-7 record, a distinct improvement over last year's performance. The team would have broken even but for close individual match losses against W.P.I. and U. Mass. Coach Sam Ruggeri, approaching his fortieth year as wrestling coach here, looks for even more improvement next year.

Stoughton executes a reverse.

This year's team, as were many past teams, was hindered by inexperience with sophomores dominating the squad. With good luck academically, these men, together with others returning after previous academic misfortune, should provide a materially stronger varsity next year. Graduation will take Captain Bob Donovan, New England fourth place winner, but consistent winners John MacAlear and Eddie Stewart will remain to lead the team.

The Tufts Ski Team participated again this year in the New England Intercollegiate Ski Conference. The first meet of the season took place at Mt. Cranmore where Tufts took a fifth place. Co-Captain Bob Wigglesworth, in his first and last appearance of the season, led the team with a ninth place finish. Bob dislocated his shoulder the following week in a downhill practice session at Mad River Glen. Thunder Mt. in Charlemont, Mass., was the scene for the second and third races. Here Tufts took a fifth in the giant slalom led by freshman Tom Bovaird who was sixth and Al Jerard who was ninth. In the downhill Tufts had two outstanding performances as Al Jerard won the event and freshman Tom Killilea tied for third, however, the team could manage only a seventh place. The following weekend found Tufts finishing fifth in the Northeastern Giant Slalom and sixth in the Tufts Challenge Trophy Slalom at Wildcat Mt. In the B.C. slalom Tufts won a sixth place, however, on the following day at Pleasant Mt. the Tufts team turned in its best performance of the year and captured a fourth in the B.U. giant slalom. Once again Al Jerard led the team with a ninth place finish. On March 9, in the last race of the season Tufts took a fifth at the A.I.C. Giant Slalom. Freshman Tom Bovaird turned in an excellent performance with a seventh place.

The team finished the season in fifth place in the N.E.I.S.C. The early season loss of Bob Wigglesworth and the lack of experienced men hurt the team's chances for an excellent year, but the present freshmen should develop into a great team in a year or two.

TENNIS

Under the capable leadership of captain Bill MacNeil, and inspired by Dale Schreiber's bullet-like ground strokes, the 1962 net squad preserved Coach Palmer's winning streak with a 6-4 record. Despite a lack of depth, impressive victories were posted at Clark, Colby and Providence where the final score was 7-2 in each contest. Strong Brandeis, Bowdoin, and Massachusetts teams squeezed by the Jumbos, however, to slow them down and spoil a perfect season. With the rapid development of a few underclassmen, and a nucleus of four returning lettermen, indications are that Coach Palmer can look forward to another good performance next spring.

Co-captain Bob Morganstern drops 30' putt to win the 18th hole.

New England Championship team.

The Jumbo links men faced the 1962 season with a monstrous task before them. The challenge—to match the performance of last year's team which went undefeated in eleven matches after losing its opener at Amherst, and copped both the G.B.L. and New England Intercollegiate Championships. Having returned from a week at Duke University, the Jumbos, captained by Laurie Bruce and John Bolino, looked forward with great anticipation to the season's opener at Amherst's Sagamore Hills Country Club. A heavy rain put a damper on this contest and thus relieved the Amherst jinx. The Jumbos subsequently rolled by Bates in a home and home series 6-1, 6-3 and trounced B.U. 6-1 under the capable leadership of Bob Morganstern who, in the absence of New England Champ Barrie Bruce, posted victories in the number one spot in all three contests. In the fourth match of the campaign, the Jumbos were upset by UConn, 5-2, despite the victorious return of Barrie Bruce to the team. Much to the frustration of Tufts golf fans, Bob Morganstern suffered his first defeat of the year, losing one down in a heart-breaking match. While Co-captain John Bolino and Bruce Weyler also were dealt close decisions, Co-captain Laurie Bruce carded the other win to match his younger brother.

Having completed a successful season, the Tufts golfers travelled to Manchester Country Club for the New England Intercollegiate Championships. This tournament was to become the crowning success story of the year. The Jumbos won team honors by taking first place with a four man total score of 323 by virtue of the fine play of Barrie Bruce and Bob Morganstern who carded identical 78's. This pair qualified for the individual competition, and both showed top form as they advanced to the semi-finals. Morganstern's defeat at the hands of Mike Barry of Babson, G.B.L. Champ, set up a repeat of the G.B.L. contest which pitted the exacting Bruce against powerful Barry. The match was uneventful for twelve holes, as each golfer matched the other stroke for stroke. Then Bruce seemed to lose control of his short game, and lost three in a row. In a tight position now, three down with four holes left to play, Bruce settled down to his old solid game, and birdied two and parred two to win his second consecutive New England Championship.

TRACK

Hughes humbles crossbar at 6'4".

Led by versatile captain Mike Hughes, a consistent scorer in the 100 yard dash, high jump, broad jump, and pole vault, the Tufts track men grabbed a decisive win in their opening contest, a triangle meet with M.I.T. and U.N.H. Other contributions to the 63 point total at Durham were firsts by Larry Smith in the 100 and 220, Charlie Beckman in the two mile, Ivan Cohen in the 880, Tim Brannon in the javelin, and Fred Heckler in the discus; and seconds by Beckman in the mile and Virgil Aiello in the shotput. The season, though disappointing, saw some notable individual efforts, among which were Dennis Hickey's twelve foot vault in the Greater Boston meet, and Fred Heckler's record breaking toss of 141' 4½" against Northeastern at the Oval.

Last year's lacrosse team, directed by coaches Timmy Ring and John Noble, finished with a four and seven record, defeating strong teams from Trinity and Holy Cross. Led by Co-captains Peter Titus and Chuck Stuckey, the team played good lacrosse, losing two games by a single goal, and several others because of lack of depth and experience. The team hopes to better its record in '63 with the experience of a core of returning lettermen including Co-captains Bob Day and Bert Meltzer, Phil Faraci, Ron Millard, Ted Morine, Pete Hourihan, and Don Curtis. According to Co-captain Meltzer, spirit, desire, and hustle will be the key words that will inspire the Jumbos to a winning season.

On February 9, 1962, Coach Bob Meehan sent out the call for varsity baseball candidates for the last time in his brief collegiate coaching career. With Paul Hess as the only returning starter in his infield, Meehan had a defensive problem which was solved handily by shortstop Bob Guidi and second baseman Tom Connors who turned in consistently fine performances. Seeing duty on the mound regularly were senior Gerry Loeb, who showed evidence of good control early in the season as he went the route against M.I.T. to extract an 18-3 victory; southpaw Miles Nogelo; and fastballer Dick Tarlow. Power at the plate was provided by Pete Benin, Bob Guidi, and Joel Peckham, who had a field day at Chestnut Hill where the Jumbos handed the Eagles of B.C. their first defeat in G.B.L. play in three seasons.

Coach Meehan and the boys mull it over.

INTRAMURALS

The Fall of 1962 found the weary minds and healthy bodies of the corps of frustrated athletes craving for the exercise and spirited competition provided by the intramural sports program. Early in the season Delta Upsilon stomped over all opponents, as is their wont, to parade to the inter-fraternity tag football title. Meanwhile, in the dormitory league, Fletcher Hall, the new graduate dorm, battled to an impressive 3-0-2 record only to be edged out by the Off-Hill club who posted 4-0-1. The spirit of the inter-fraternity league which inspired the closest trophy race in recent years, bared itself in the all-college championship where Zeta Psi prevailed to bring home the crown.

While the blood and guts fans were tearing up the gridiron, the proponents of the most exacting sport in the intramural program took to the links. Dave Johnson, a Delt sophomore, led the field with a 37, and his team to second place, while Duncan MacDonald carded a 39 to clinch the victory for the DU's by three strokes. The grads again showed the voice of experience as Fletcher grabbed the win in the dormitory circuit by four strokes over perennial contender East Hall.

In the last of the outdoor contests, the harriers from the Delt House annexed their third title in four years on the coldest afternoon of the season. On November second, activity moved inside where the Thetes dominated the fraternity volleyball scene after placing second in their league behind the fast moving Kippies.

While Fletcher won the dormitory league. Here again the quality of competition among the fraternities and dormitories was demonstrated as the Phi Eps, winner of the second bracket in league competition, topped the Thetes to capture the all-college title.

Midway through the season, the Trophy of Trophies race showed promise of the best competition in four years, with Theta Delta Chi leading the fraternity league by a fifty point margin. East Hall had a thirty point advantage in the dormitory league and was trailing the Thetes by a meagre ten. The Thetes, anxious to retire the trophy for the second year in succession, were hotly pursued by Delta Upsilon, always a strong contender, and Alpha Tau Omega, one of the spoilers in almost every sport.

FIELD HOCKEY

The field hockey team practiced under coach, Miss Beedem, three afternoons a week in preparation for the season's games. In the first game, Heather Mathewson and Mimi Fitzgerald scored the two Jackson goals as Jackson played to a 2-2 tie with Bouve. The second game found Jackson scoring seven times as they defeated Pembroke, 7-2. Captain Kelly Lynch led the Jackson scoring with three goals. In the third game of the season Jackson was shut out by Radcliffe, but they bounced back and defeated U.N.H. in the final game.

BASKETBALL

Playing under the new roving player rules, the basketball team began practice right after Christmas vacation. This year's team was coached by Miss Beedem and captained by Bonnie McGregor. The team played at Pembroke to open its season and came out on top, 19-17, with roving guard Betsy Moulton and roving forward Kelly Lynch combining for most of Jackson's points. Other games were scheduled with Radcliffe and U.N.H.

SOFTBALL

Practice for the 1962 softball season began in Jackson Gym and moved outside as soon as the snow disappeared. Coached by Miss Wright the team traveled to Providence for its first game and soundly defeated the Pembroke nine. The team then evened its record suffering a loss to Radcliffe in a closely fought game at home. Captain Judy Vaitukaitis and Diane DeWitt sparkled in the infield and also led the hitting attack.

MARLINS

Mary Moore perfectly executes ballet leg.

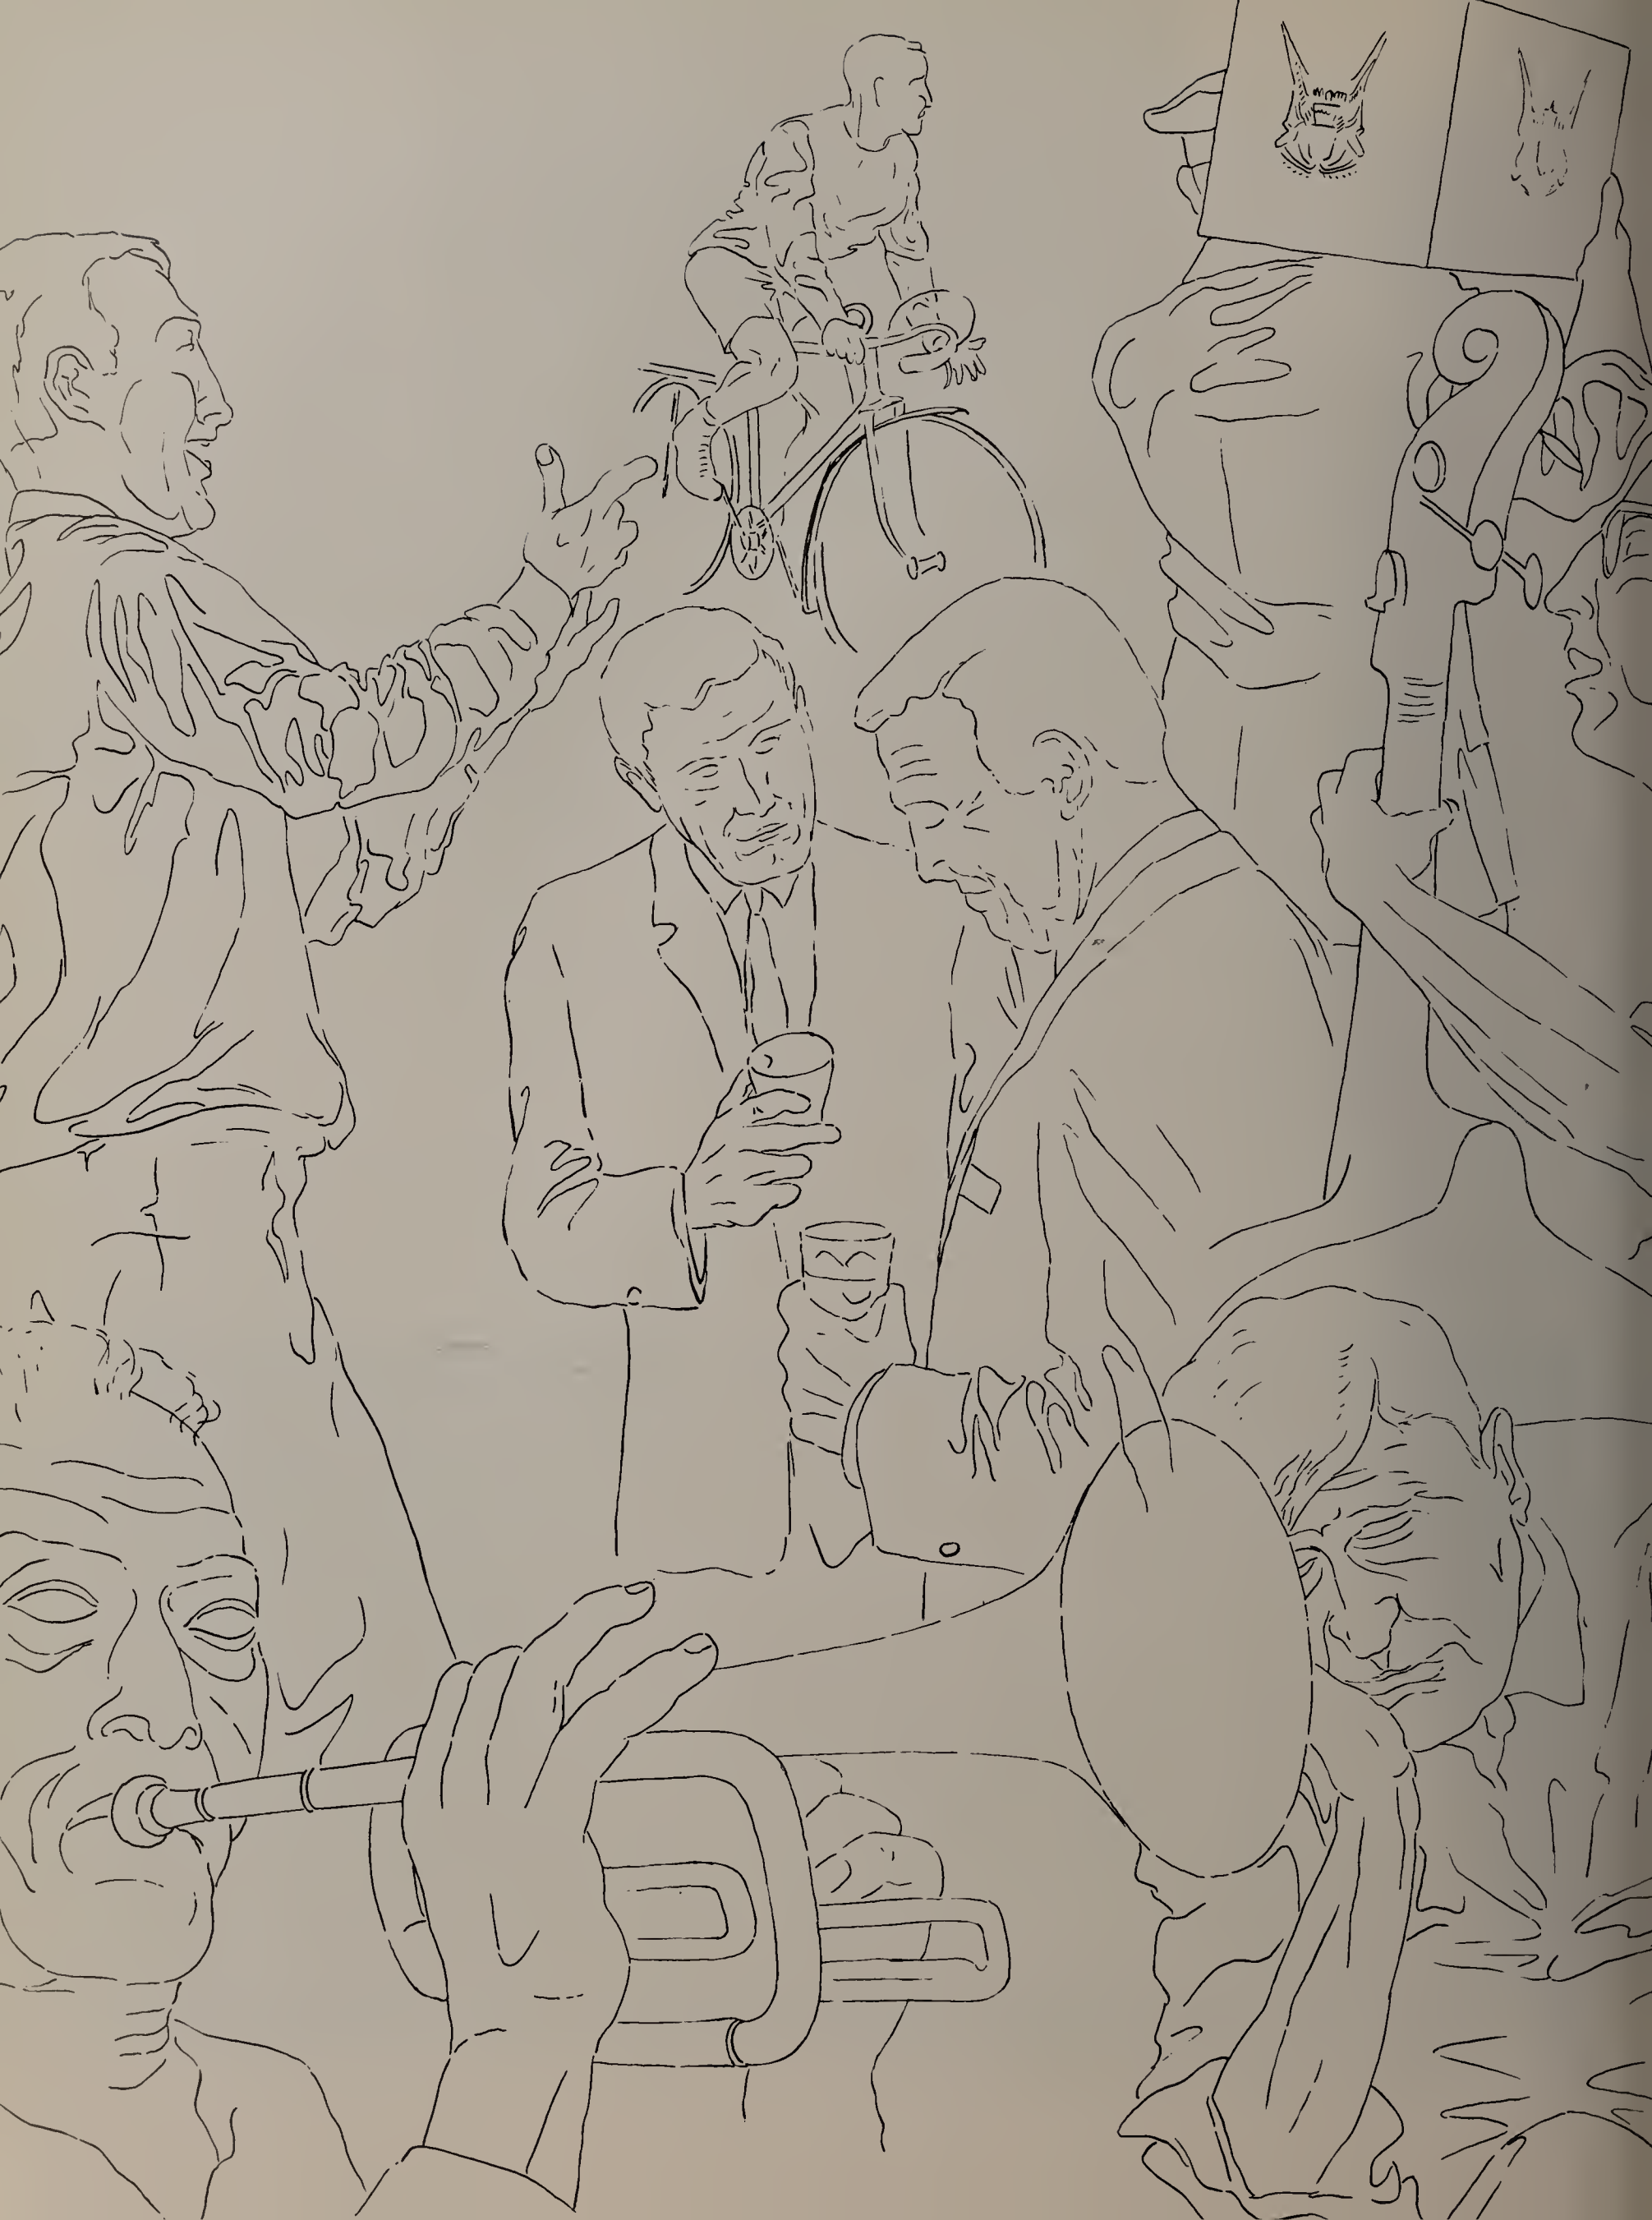

Eighteen girls devoted Thursday nights to synchronized swimming and water ballet at Hamilton Pool this year. In April they presented their annual show with "Toyland" as the theme. Coached by Miss Sturtevant, the Marlins wrote and arranged their own numbers for "Toyland." Every spring an overflow crowd watches the Marlins swim gracefully through their show, the result of many months of practice and planning.

ALETHEA

"And when this grind of college life is through, Hurrah!" . . . and it's time for another group of Senior Aletheans to stand up for the cheering. But we'll always remember the last year as a terrific one—and busy. Right, Little Ray? . . . By the way best wishes—but to whom?

Monday night meetings and, "Help, I dropped a stitch!" Just keep knitting, Betty—only 290,972 stitches to go. Planning social events . . . Let's see—Marcia, Linda, Jay, Anita, you're the first committee . . . "Wait a minute, I'm wavering." "Wavering? Looked more like you were staggering Saturday night!" Bowling with Theta Chi . . . "Hey Betsey, the pins are in the other direction!"

Santa in plaid skirt delivers belated presents.

Sales again. Joanne wants to use black ink for a change. Sure, pumpkins keep ten days . . . anyway, you'd better say that they do! Has anybody seen some daffodils? Hey, wait a minute, we said 2,000, period—not 2,000 dozen! Does anybody know a good recipe for daffodil stew? And contests—the tape recorder, duly inaugurated by Carol's famous vocal talents. Another stereo set . . . anybody want to buy it? . . . Green paint? . . . only adds personality to the finish.

A little speculation. It was Mrs. Abbott's turn last spring. Okay, patrons, whose turn is it to add to the population explosion this year?

Sub parties, spaghetti suppers together in Hodgdon. "Can I bum one cigarette from everybody?" . . . "What's the matter, Meg—cheap?" . . . "No, it's for a joke present, honest!" The Halloween party, complete with a visit by "The Great Pumpkin" (not to mention the Marlboro Man).

Art House's lecture on Crossroads Africa, a trip to the theatre, another terrific pledge formal, rushing—always hectic, but fun, skits and more skits . . . "My Daddy is President," . . . the list goes on and on. But the weeks roll by too fast and suddenly it's time for the final sorority banquet. More than one Senior grows suspiciously quiet as we stand together to sing, "Our Alethea, hail to thee. True and loyal hearts have we. Well we've loved thee in the past. Still we'll love thee to the last."

CHI OMEGA

Let's go Chi-O.

Chi O's stand together . . . here's an apple in your eye! and Homecoming brought other new doings; our apple float, Johnny came marching home again, Ginny too supports O.C.S., and Betty sported a new trinket. IBB's got caught without trying. You only brought two pairs of heels to convention, Fuzzy? En masse, we descended upon fraternity row for Halloween fling. One gunny sack and one dinner bell later . . . not the whole wall, Betz, just a piece of plaster . . . Lynn was stewing over her winning first prize for the most bewitching costume. Ambition soared for our room painting party. Frustrated Michelangelo's sloshed away as Nancy once again vowed a trip to the Nickerson Home, bar rain, snow, sleet, hail, dates . . . for Pete's sake, Lucie, we don't want anymore sweat-shirts! MJ was turning gray . . . Get your foot off my . . . What a great parent's tea . . . O, Baby Mine—is an alto voice. Jean, get Diane to help you. Joyce played up the Pan-Hell splash party, which featured the tanksuit twosome. Even teaching ghosts like Barb and Ellie showed for the Hodgdon sorority suppers. New initiates and pledges joined us for an MIT mix . . . soft drinks served, how could Sheli come? She would have enjoyed Collins more. Pre-Christmas pizza at Simeone's. What a spread, eh, Deutsch? Skiing is big in Conway. Room for one more Marcia? Congratulations, on your motherhood, Lee. Meg and Greg are doing fine. Rush can't be delayed anymore, and no disease will keep Kathy away. Understand Nan's joining another national.

"The curtain falls and all too soon the show is o'er," but Chi Alphas will be here evermore.

Dime Please.

Peanuts?

Delta Zeta lamps are still burning . . . Especially late on Monday nights . . . Returned in September to find an ecstatic report from the sixtieth birthday National Convention, "twenty-one red roses." . . . Also the return of the prodigal sisters, Liddy and Sue Gartley . . . Cha-Cha and highland-fling lessons free! . . . Let all loyal D.Z.'s now rise for a toast. Viva la Delta Z! . . . Won't you come along with me? . . . to the parents weekend? . . . Halloween fun and games, with everyone in fancy dress . . . Even our good friend Mrs. Pote. (By the way, thank you for all your help and tasty cookies.) . . . Jumbo is well fed on our delicious peanuts . . . and the proceeds were used for a marvelous Christmas party for orphans, with gifts for the youngsters, and an authentic D.Z. Santa . . . What luck! we have a new seventy-five cup coffee maker for the Mad Hatter's tea party . . . with emphasis on the "mad" . . . One thousand and one popsicle wrappers, one thousand and two . . . With all the new pledges . . . many amusing hours? . . . Mother and daughter outings . . . No! That is strictly a pledge privilege . . . You should see this younger generation dance! . . . Quite a lively Pledge Formal . . . Delta Zeta's best wishes to our newest alums.

The Taus signal another Tufts T.D.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Four years ago a small group of Taus started out on the road to becoming hairy-chested men. Dave Foster made an impressive start, receiving the Jock of the year award, but had to be dropped from the wrestling team because he was getting pinned too often. About Ray Evans, we'd just like to say, gee guy, I mean, holy cow, that was a close shave at my stag party. When our contribution to the AMA, Nick Bryan, alias Diogenes, alias the Connecticut Commuter, alias the Florists Friend, alias Bad Cheek Bryan, wasn't studying, he was dreaming that he went to the "Sandy" shores of Virginia in his Maiden-form bra. Chris Holmes, started as "best joke teller," found two sterling organizations. The NAAKN and the Stud Club, won a race here and there, and emerged as the "great Compromiser." Bill Harris traveled through his four years with his easy going disposition radiating friendliness in all directions, especially toward the pledges for whom he invented clever games like "Anihole Says." For the brothers he periodically held Annual Training Tables, so that new methods could be perfected. Despite all this service, Bill found plenty of time to study, pulling many all nighters in the Tau Hut.

This small group of five was joined by many stragglers later on. Sophomore year Charlie Hogan appeared, and was promptly labeled Ho-ho. At last report he was seen wandering around the party room saying "Get your money in or action will be taken." About this time Ken Stewart, known as sure fire, was lured away from the Kursaal. ATO's answer to Jonathan Winters regrets that he didn't eat his Wheaties at the Junior Dinner Dance. "Whip" Rolfe was here all the time, but nobody found out about him until two years later when he blundered upon a brothers meeting while looking for an old sneaker. Steve Taus guillotine all homecoming competitors again.

Geary came junior year and now can either be found eating watermelon while watching TV or else in Boston capering with several hundred of his cousins. Dick Talbot pledged late (he had a hard time deciding which house was for him), was "initiated late and always limped into chow late. He has promised to do some work for the house later. Joe McCleary, friend of an annoyous red-head from Springfield who shall remain nameless, marched into the Tau Hut and cleverly eluded the Brothers by jumping out a window. Sonny Gatalelo managed to keep the machinery of the Tau Hut well greased and relentlessly cut the Christmas sing squad until he had created an incomparable choir. Meanwhile, without batting an eye, Phil Congdon, (while playing tennis) devoured a box of Fanny Farmer Candy. "Snoopy" Mason turned out to be the only guy in the history of Tufts to take a date to EE Lab. Late comer, Tom Carty, renounced Mu Tau Alpha to join Alpha Tau Omega. Dave Sturtevant and Mike Krag assured the entire house that there were many fringe benefits to living off campus. Nobody can figure out why Krag took his typewriter to all important social events. Sturtevant, leader of the Fapzaps, was very fond of flowers and fertilizers. Thus, these are the Taus of 1963. Most of us still don't have any hair on our chests, but we had a good time trying to put some there.

PHI EPSILON PI

This, of course, was the year of THE NEW HOUSE at Phi Ep. After years of work and planning, ground was finally broken during the first week of school in September, and the addition and renovation was completed when we returned from Christmas vacation. Some Christmas present!

Despite adverse interior conditions, the "Spides" ran the greatest Monster Mixer in history. We stopped counting after the four hundredth lovely walked in. At every party the favorite pastime was sitting in the T.V. room pretending to watch color television.

George became a big man on campus this year. Doc Heath came calling on him almost every week.

It's now time to bestow the annual awards on the class of 1963 . . . To Al Bar, the late shift in his room. For Fred Claar, a bigger and better territory. Joel Gershenson receives a year full of vacations at home. Special glasses go to Arthur Gold so that every girl looks like a blonde. To Ron Kraft, what else but thirty-five pounds of CHEESE. Adrian Lichter receives a Christmas Sing and Chairmanship of the English department. Pete Lomon gets Professor Reynolds. A New York Giants contract goes to our own Sam Huff, Bert Meltzer. Joe Neubauer has a little gift of a few more campus enterprises. To Bruce Norton we hopefully hand an unwinder for his dancing. For John McPeake we have an invitation to come over to the house once in a while.

Larry Smith receives a communications hook-up to Earth. A few free nights are given to Neil Smithline. . . . Here's that modeling contract for Bill Sydney. Ed Swan (Chief of Pit Public Relations) anxiously awaits his scholarship to Ole Miss. A pound of sugar for Stan Quittman and Girls, Girls, Girls for Mike Reisel finishes up these citations for '63.

We wish the best of luck to all the seniors in everything they undertake, and a hearty "thank you" for being around these four years.

"Tales of woe."

If it hadn't been for some clown running a Bond Bread searchlight, we might never have found this place. Most fraternities, says the Tufts Bulletin, are "a step off campus;" Phi Sig is more like a short mountain descending expedition into bourgeois Somerville. It is definitely not a place for late sleepers. In fact, the sacrifice of getting up at 7:50 instead of 8:00 for a first period class is only rewarded by the nausea spared by not living on Professors' Row. As closet room was scarce at 25 Whitfield, all of us never lived in the house at one time. In '62 we had a flourishing colony going up at West Hall—that somehow twisted itself out—and a president who lived with the Paige Hall ministers so long that we finally sent him off to be one. But whether pansy or stud, man or mouse, we had got ourselves into more than we ever expected or ever could narrate with impunity for the rest of our lives.

As freshmen we naturally were social virgins. But money previously wasted on tickets to class functions, we soon learned could be turned into liquid happiness. The rashness and exuberance of Jackson girls we soon deserted in favor of a neo-neo-platonic liaison with Wyeth House. In fact, the entire social mores of our youth were shattered. Fraternity men did not go to church but to the God-box: they did not wear Harris Tweed coats but sweatshirts. Even Friday night parties were different, as the only requirements were spoons, chairs, a record of "Felicia," no dates, and no room left in the icebox.

The old traditional big weekends did, of course, hang on. We sat for rain-drenched hours at the Homecoming games, got permanently scarred in the Ivy Weekend bicycle races, and passed out over the Valiants. But no fraternity could blot out, we soon learned, the hideous fact that Tufts was, in fact, a "small New England college of high quality."

There were other games, of course, to play beside party games. Jimbo and the Guzander played politics, Fitzie tinkered around with Niven, Tootie sold stationery, Barrie won golf tournaments, and, of course, we all played bridge. When all other means failed there were always games to be played with the pledges, fingers to be burnt, and spiels to be spied. Doors, composite pictures, even brothers disappeared, but pledges never stopped walking in the door to remind us that our four years were flying by.

For some, of course, school work became tolerable. (Always intolerable, however, was the blood-sweat-tears type of pulling all-nighters over a dozen cups of coffee and No-Doz) Lenny, Stoney, and especially Max had fun flunking freshmen Bio students. Faculty members, we soon learned however, hated fraternity men, and our only revenge was to force them to chaperone our parties, and bird-dog their wives if they came to dinner. Somehow, however, we always had a Phi Bete or Tau Bete around; masses of aspiring Phi Sigs, thanks to Doc, moved headquarters to the Dent school; most of us got into grad school; and even our engineers were hired.

Sometimes this time in our life may appear as a romantic return to the womb where all our needs had been taken care of by Irene's cooking and Dad's monthly checks. Some of us of course, will probably not forget the swift kicks in the rump we took; but whether we come out of this ivy-league menagerie for better or for worse, we will never be the same. The groove we fell into was sometimes, to be sure, a ten foot hole but nevertheless it got us through this rat-race and if that isn't a miracle, by God I don't know what is.

"There's a house for everyone."

TAU EPSILON PHI

A case for Case.

Back in 1955 a group of disgruntled fellows sat about a table in the Kurrsaal and agreed: The fraternity system at Tufts was just plain inadequate. There was no one house open to interested Freshmen which embodied all the stringent qualities that these boys sought: 1. No discrimination. 2. A sincere desire for intellectual achievement. 3. Wholesome social activities. 4. Participation for all in athletics. And most important 5. The furtherance of true and sincere friendship among persons of individual characters. To be sure, some of these qualities existed in each house, but none contained them all.

These five objectives became the ideals of that group in their fight to establish their version of fraternalism. They adopted the name Tau Phi and saw it evolve into the present Tau Epsilon Phi. It took five years to advance the group to the point where a benevolent national organization backed the purchase of a house. One need spend only a small amount of time within that house to note the fruits of this concerted labor. He would see brothers and alumni of almost all extractions living and working together harmoniously; an outstanding grade record on the Tufts campus and within the framework of the national fraternity; well-attended parties, a commendable reputation on the Jackson campus, and all seniors pinned (with the grave exceptions of Sam Boxer and Peter Parella); athletic competitions which aren't always successful but are always fun; and a group of different fellows with different interest who share the common bond of fraternalism.

Contentment.

suave Theta Chi.

THETA CHI

. . . Turn another page, now that seems to finish another chapter (pun intentional) in the fast-growing volume of Theta data. The episode presented here took a whole year of anti-work campaigning and relaxation before it finally got into print. Each man contributed his part, and all are equally to blame.

There is nothing like a college bull-session, and none that even faintly resembles the ones which just happen in the Theta Chi kitchen—the place where men come to satisfy their minds and stomachs simultaneously, and usually end satisfying neither. A kettle has whistled, and the restless crowd makes for the tea bags.

On entering the room we see Strouser, Ex-President of the Stokes County Administration engaged in conversation, undoubtedly of high nature, with Lopah. Wayne, our new president, resplendent in KKK mogul-mogul robe swings the gavel with deadly efficiency—ayuh! The next individual to strut into the room is our medicine man: we got religion (our own personal brand) in the form of Chaplain V. O. Kalloch. His resounding grace may not be Cush, but it has a quality of its own. Kalloch also furthers our religious and educational needs by occasionally leading the Alfred Deller Boy's Choir in their version of "Today I Passed You on the Street."

While I was talking, a couple more filtered in to partake of a cup of Jack's espresso, guaranteed continuously brewed for 24 hours. It's a maniac session with Dave Matheson, as I try hard to forget he's a country boy in his coat, tie, and Wranglers. How many consecutive days wearing is that, Dave? Glenn Calvin has entered with Dave, and merely stares at him. One can tell by the wrinkled brow that here is a philosopher. His pleasant disposition may be due to his study week diet of 100% pure camels, and the walls of the "Red Hole." Sometimes, while on a jag, Glenn publishes our Theta Chi "Weekly," a mag of some culture. Make way! Here's Phil Harvey tightening his Ascot. Where's your pin, Phil? Lost again? Phil has been incumbent class secretary for three years, and of course uses only Parliamentary Procedure at meetings.

Things are really getting underway as Dick Chane saunters in, a Jungle Mann compleat with clay pipe spewing Deutschland Uberalles smoking mixture, and a glass of Drambuie. In the background mayhem is unleashed, and it becomes increasingly easy to see Kalloch doing Thompson, and Thompson doing Kalloch doing Thompson with ping-pong ball. Ah!—It's Gedney, need I say more? Able to leap tall buildings in a single bound, and smiling loquaciously (it's possible). "Haarp!" (A high point has been reached in the discussion.) Immediately behind Gedney, for some strange reason, we find Jack Whitehead, better known to the in-group as Ritchie. Of special note, it can be said that Jack is a pinned engineer. He's taking special courses in Thermodynamics and Stresses.

Why yes indeed, looking for all the world like Madison Avenue, it's our Bouve relations man, Jack Lewicki. Down for a light snack Jack? Jock's a Jack, and plays varsity ball right behind Jack, and slipping in sideways through the door comes Tom Smith, Ubermensch for short, unofficial bouncer for sure. Two stragglers are now pushing their way into the room, arm in arm they go . . . a dedicated look on their faces. I believe it's those two underhanded grind pre-meds Bartlett and Silva (they don't usually drop in without some ulterior motive). What is it boys? Oh, John's looking for a fourth, and Wayne's closing the kitchen . . . too much noise.

Another page, another Chapter, another volume. It would be easy to put THE END at the bottom of this page, but let's be realistic, this is just the beginning.

Fun in the sun.

The past year has seen new faces rise to prominence in the Thete house as always, but the fun and companionship are still the same. The brotherhood rose anew from finals and made an appearance at the I.F.C. Ball (plus appearances at the J. Cronin's, and Hodgson Lounge). Spring sports saw us take wrestling, tennis, and the relays. We introduced the "Downbeats" from Sloppy Joe's on the Cape, the only band smooth enough to play for the Thetes. June skies found us at Falmouth for Spring Weekend. (Remember Litchfield and the rose?) Summer came and we headed for our jobs, looking forward to the fall.

In September we pledged ourselves to new social and trophy heights. These were realized by our Thete theme parties, a great Christmas formal, and by taking a December lead in the trophy race. No one could ever remember all the things that made the house such a success during the past year. Once again the Thetes distinguished themselves on all varsity teams and campus affairs. And so the class of '63 leaves, and bolstered by a fine freshman class, Theta Delta Chi continues onward and upward.

House throws all night drunk! Stumpf allots two six-packs. Chapman ruins perfect social record, gets a date. Leatherneck Connell takes orders from Quantico all summer and Newton all winter. 'Ten Hut! Morine retires bad actors award. Gaudet and Hughes finally graduate. Arthur, that's no place to put your nose. Marlowe drops down for an occasional meal and instigates the Wednesday night date fiasco.

"What, me worry?"

MacNeish changes underwear for Christmas formal. Crash Richards goes incognito, puts pants on. Sylvia-stein cleans out Tufts, then takes New York City for $15,000. Dempster Dumpster dies. Stoughtie slashes his wrists.

Kennedy ups annual budget to finance Gowdy's engagement ring. Mr. Klein, teach me tonight? (all night if you like) Laqueur! Your clothes pin is showing. Donovan forms strictly amateur crime syndicate. They got us for larceny.

Matrimony fells Sylvia and Stewart. Little boys shouldn't throw rocks at Barnum Hall. Richards and MacNiel start safe driving school. Pogo throws costume party. Phil Klein closes out athletic career with 12 letters in 5 sports. Tim Brannan co-captains next year's football squad.

Thetes steal show at Spring Sing with "Officer Krupke," and give it back at Christmas Sing.

Whaddaya mean, it won't work?

ZETA PSI

September, and the Zetes were preparing for a new year to match the new house in spirit and appearance, new furniture, cleaned by the pledges . . . great parties . . . Paul Deuba . . . we finally made an appearance in the athletic world when Hag's eleven took the all-college football championship. Who can forget: Bob's lament, "The sweatshirts aren't here yet!" Va's screeching elephant that finally worked and placed at homecoming . . . the transformation of Antella "the Hum" . . . the introduction of "Babe" Spath as a social butterfly . . . Stan threatening to buy everyone with a check if his soap wasn't returned. Hey Paul, how's school? The 3rd floor crew. Rabbit's consecutive records . . . Rat's nicknames . . . Kuda's mantraps that caught Cabby. C.A.'s little pupils . . . "Hey Hickman, buy me Sears" . . . Robley's locksmith shop.

Va finally beat the "big-guy" in competition . . .

New uses for pool cues . . . What's Otis really like? Cut's "Duck" . . . Burleigh and Randall, co-founders of the "Forelorn Lovers Club." Maybe one day DeWitt will be like Cabby; Rockhead lose his hammer; Gas erasing Arnold's blackboard. Harry Burleigh pay attention to his date . . . Nerd taking catsup on his dates . . . Kuda know how much was in the treasury . . . The world's only living Fossil stays out for cross country and Oldak stays out of the chemistry lab . . . The Bull returns . . . Cramer's hair oil . . . Koohs? No, just "great guys" . . .

With such a wide range of characters, we somehow have managed to progress, still keeping the "Zete" tradition of individuality, that is fostered by the brotherhood and which we believe will remain with us for many years to come.

At the Zete House nearly everybody reads the "Weekly."

Alumni House

WELCOME
to the ranks of alumni of
TUFTS UNIVERSITY
May, 1963

Warren E. Carley

The Tufts University Alumni Association welcomes you and your classmates as members of the Association and hopes that you will be able to participate in many of its activities.

Automatically at graduation all Tufts students become members of the Association, for which there are no dues. Every member receives annually the four issues of the Tufts Alumni Review, free. Every member is also eligible to join one or more Tufts alumni clubs and other alumni organizations and to become a candidate for membership on the Board of Trustees and on the Tufts Alumni Council, the executive board of the Alumni Association.

The association welcomes your advice and support and encourages you to provide personal information about yourself and your friends among the alumni. You are also urged to suggest names of good candidates for alumni offices and to assist Tufts in whatever ways you can.

Some alumni occasionally and unintentionally lose contact with Tufts because they forget to inform the Association of their current addresses. We suggest that you add Tufts to the list of organizations you must notify each time you move.

Your active cooperation is also needed to support Tufts University in its program to provide an education of exceptional calibre to all students enrolled there. You will have many opportunities to provide such support.

Your liaison with Tufts and with the Association is the Alumni Office, located in Alumni House, 95 Talbot Avenue. In charge is Fred P. Nickless, Jr., the Alumni Secretary, who is also Secretary-Treasurer both of the Alumni Association and of the Alumni Council. He and his staff are prepared at all times to welcome you, to answer your questions and to assist you on matters relating to Tufts.

We wish you Godspeed in your long life ahead.

Sincerely yours,

Tufts University Alumni Association

The art of being a non-conformist

or why many perceptive yearbook staffs prefer a very distinguished publishing house

Retaining one's individuality is not easy in these days of mass production and standardization. This is especially true of yearbook publishing, in which mass production methods have the tendency to force one to buy just what the other fellow buys.

Making of soap or soup or salad dressing by mass methods is one thing. But it is quite another to attempt to produce a creative yearbook by trying to squeeze it into some pre-conceived mold. It just can't be done that way.

The Wm. J. Keller firm brings together highly trained craftsmen, the very finest papers and ink of superlative quality. Add to these a unique service plan built around the individual school, and, finally, production by the Velvatone process, which Keller perfected especially for the printing of yearbooks, and you have a truly distinguished performance. And a yearbook with singular character and individuality . . . we call it "THE LOOK OF THE BOOK."

The yearbook you are presently leafing through is the product of the Keller custom program. If you would care to see other examples of "THE LOOK OF THE BOOK" as produced by Wm. J. Keller, get in touch with us now.
